Ohioans to vote on 6 amendments to Constitution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When voters go to the polls Tuesday they will make decisions on a state lottery and five other state constitutional amendment proposals.

Voters in 61 counties, in addition, will decide hundreds of local issues. Among those issues are included 150 tax levies and 75 bond issues.

Candidates, however, will be scarce on the ballots. Primary elections are scheduled for later this year in Cincinnati, Cleveland, Akron and Toledo.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has predicted that less than a third of Ohio's 5.3 million eligible voters will go to the polls as a result of the short ballots.

Most voter interest appears to be in Issue No. 1, which calls for the establishment of a state lottery. Backers have estimated that such a lottery could increase the state's general revenue fund by as much as $25 million.

Opponents of the measure claim the lottery would attract the interest of organized vice operators.

There is a bill pending in the General Assembly to establish a lottery planning commission in the event that the issue is approved.

Other constitutional amendments on the ballot include:

—Issue 2: Allows governmental units to appropriate property for sewer and water lines prior to settlement of payment to property owner.

—Issue 3: Removes language from the constitution prohibiting embezzlers of public funds from holding public office unless the embezzled funds are repaid. The subject is now covered in state statutes.

—Issue 4: Deletes from the constitution authority for the governor to appoint an Ohio Supreme Court commission, which hasn't been used since 1833.

—Issue 5: Allows the General Assembly to change as well as accept or reject Ohio Supreme Court rules and procedures for all courts.

—Issue 5-A: Permits municipal court judges to receive in term pay increases. Pay raises for other judges were covered by an earlier amendment.

—Issue 6: Provides a number of changes in the General Assembly's procedures, including requiring annual sessions and allowing the legislature to call special sessions.

Full texts of the amendments will be posted in polling places. A condensed text will appear on ballots.

State liquor stores will be closed all day Tuesday. In addition, liquor permit holders in areas where candidates' names appear on the primary election ballot may sell only 3.2 per cent beer from 6 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.

Sales will be permitted as usual in areas where only issues appear on the ballot.

U.S. diplomat still not free; demands hiked

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — The kidnapers of U.S. Consul-General Terrance G. Leonhardy were reported making more demands today following the transfers to Cuba of 30 prisoners whose freedom had been demanded in exchange for the American diplomat.

"The situation has become extremely complicated. There are new demands," said Gov. Alberto Orozco Romero of Jalisco state Sunday. "We just have to wait now. It could be hours or days...."

He did not say what the demands were.

Shortly before, the governor received a note from Leonhardy saying he was being treated well and his kidnapers promised to release him "at the proper moment."

Leonhardy's wife, at home with the couple's two young daughters, received a telephone call from the kidnapers Sunday afternoon saying new instructions would be phoned later. The second call had not come by midnight.

Officials of the state and federal governments and of the U.S. Embassy in Mexico City waited with Mrs. Leonhardy. A special telephone line was installed at the house, apparently to keep the government in Mexico City in close touch.

Outside the house, nearly 100 newsmen, photographers, neighbors and onlookers waited through the night.

Thirty persons were released from jails in six Mexican states Sunday afternoon and flown to Havana in a Mexican air force plane, meeting the ransom demand of the guerrilla group that seized the 58-year-old consul-general Friday evening as he drove home alone.

Most of those released were young people accused of bombings, bank robberies, shootings and subversion. Some had been held since 1971 without trial.

Wounded Knee accord reached

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — Negotiators for the government and Indian militants are optimistic the 69-day occupation of Wounded Knee will end this week now that a disarmament agreement has been signed.

But spokesmen for the two sides traded warnings about future takeovers and the way the government would react.

Negotiators announced on Sunday the signing of a disarmament pact that calls for weapons to be surrendered and nonresidents to leave the village at 9 a.m. EDT Wednesday.

That is to be followed by implementation of an April 5 agreement that calls for an investigation of civil rights complaints and an audit of Oglala Sioux tribal funds on the Pine Ridge Reservation. The earlier pact was to have ended the occupation of Wounded Knee but never was put into effect because of a dispute over laying down arms.

The confrontation began when American Indian Movement (AIM) forces took over the village Feb. 27 and has resulted in the deaths of two of the Indian occupiers.

AIM lawyer Ramon Roubideaux, a Sioux, said in a statement: "I think the government should realize that the type of governments on reservations is a failure. Something must be done to replace it.

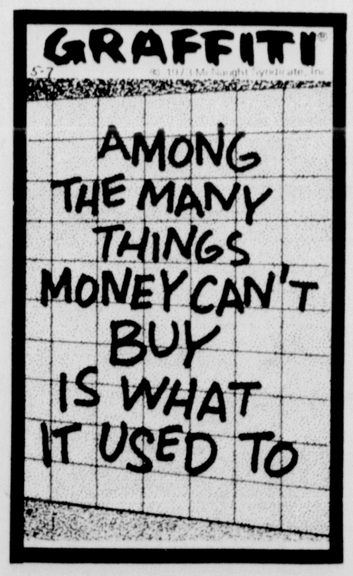
"If not, there will be more Wounded Knees. These oppressed people are not going to live under these repressive governments."

AIM has contended that traditional chiefs and headmen, not the elected officials, should rule reservations.

Richard Hellstern, deputy assistant U.S. attorney general in charge of negotiations for the government, said the government has "learned many things" during the 10-week siege.

"I don't think the pattern of patience, negotiation and renegotiation necessarily would be the same if there were another Wounded Knee," he said. "Persons contemplating another Wounded Knee might anticipate a different action on the part of the government."

Under the agreement, Indians will evacuate their bunkers and turn over their weapons to Community Relations Service personnel of the Justice Department. Legal weapons will be returned to their owners, but all other guns will be seized.



Ousted aide expected to testify on coverup

Report Dean to claim Nixon knew of scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's two largest weekly news magazines say ousted White House Counsel John W. Dean III is prepared to testify that President Nixon personally congratulated him last September for covering up administration involvement in the Watergate incident.

Time and Newsweek gave slightly different accounts, but both said Nixon's purported remarks came in a meeting among the President, Dean and another top White House aide.

Newsweek quoted Dean as saying Nixon was in the Oval Office with Dean and White House chief of staff H.R. "Bob" Haldeman when the President said: "Good job, John. Bob told me what a great job you've been doing."

Time's version said Nixon, Dean and the President's domestic-affairs adviser, John D. Ehrlichman, were present and that Nixon said: "John here tells me you've been doing fine work."

Neither magazine, in announcing the stories would be forthcoming, identified its source.

However, one legal source who has been close to the Watergate case, said the "tidbits" Dean reportedly gave government investigators were used as bait in an effort to win the 34-year-old lawyer immunity from prosecution. Dean has told them he has other evidence, including White House documents, to substantiate his claims, the source said.

The documents presumably are the 43-page volume and eight supporting papers that Dean's lawyer described Friday in U.S. District Court here. Dean gave the keys to a safe deposit box to Chief Judge John J. Sirica, saying the box contains the classified documents taken from the White House to prevent their being destroyed.

The source said the government has refused to grant Dean immunity in exchange for his testimony.

Another observer said Dean, fired by Nixon a week ago, still may waive his right to the constitutional protection against self-incrimination even if he fails to win immunity.

"If he goes before the (Senate Watergate) committee and creates a tremendous sensation by implicating everybody in the White House on national television,' the lawyer said, "he'll be able to claim he could never get a fair trial because of all the pretrial publicity."

In other weekend developments in the Watergate scandal:

—Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., announced she will co-sponsor a resolution seeking a House inquiry on whether grounds exist for impeaching the President. Sen. James L. Buckley, R-Con.-N.Y., said it would be outrageous to start impeachment proceedsings in the absence of all the facts in the Watergate affair.

—Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said his wife's reported suggestion that Nixon resign "is ridiculous." The Committee for the Re-election of the President issued a statement by Mitchell saying United Press International, which carried the suggestion in a story, took advantage of a personal telephone call from Mrs. Mitchell to a UPI reporter.

FOUR INJURED — Four persons were sent to Memorial Hospital following this two-car headon collision on CCC Highway-E, just north of West Road Sunday afternoon. Sheriff's deputies said the driver of the black car, Michael Taylor, 22, of 816 Washington Ave., apparently fell asleep at the wheel and drifted left of center into the path of the station wagon, towing the camper. Traffic was backed up on the busy highway for more than an hour before the wreckage was cleared.

Weekend crashes injure 8

A head-on collision on the CCC Highway, just northeast of West Road, Sunday afternoon sent four persons to Memorial Hospital with injuries. The crash was one of seven investigated over weekend which resulted in injuries to eight persons.

Three members of a Sunbury family were admitted to Memorial Hospital with injuries sustained when their station wagon, towing a camper trailer, collided head-on with another car at 3:55 p.m. Sunday.

Admitted were Richard V. Yankie, 51, driver of the station wagon, with a lacerated nose and multiple abrasions; Rose M. Yankie, 36, suffering from fractured ankles, lacerations, and abrasions; and David L. Yankie, 13, with a puncture wound and contusions of the forehead.

The driver of the other car Michael E. Taylor, 22, of 816 Washington Ave., a City police dispatcher, was treated for a laceration of the lower lip and released. Taylor was en route home from an Air Force Reserve meeting at Lockbourne.

Sheriff's deputies said the accident occurred when the southbound Taylor car traveled left of center into the path of the northbound Yankie car. The Taylor car skidded 115 feet in the left lane before the crash.

OFFICERS at the scene said Taylor apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Traffic on the busy highway was backed up several hundred yards in both directions while wreckers cleared two demolished cars from the roadway after Mount Sterling firemen flushed away the spilled gasoline. The camper towed by Yankie also was damaged.

Two Greenfield girls were injured when their car collided with a farm tractor at the intersection of Stafford and Miami Trace roads Saturday afternoon.

Bonnie K. Harris, 17, driver of the car, and Dianne Peters, 18, were both released after first aid in the emergency room for minor injuries.

According to sheriff's deputies the tractor, operated by Otties R. Smith, 58, Rt. 2, Leesburg, had stopped for the stop sign westbound on the Miami Trace Road and then pulled into the intersection into the path of the southbound Harris car.

Officers said the Harris car skidded 110 feet in an attempt to stop before the collision.

The 1965 model car was heavily damaged. The front of Smith's 1968

No dates for Florida girl; evenings are spent in jail

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Attractive Van Harlee, a clerical assistant at the Florida Capitol, must say no every time she is asked for a date.

"I tell them I'm still the property of the state," said the 22-year-old brunette.

Each night, Miss Harlee must return to a State Corrections Department house where she and nine other women live as they serve the last months of prison sentences.

She and two other women in the work release program are employed by the state Education Department. Miss Harlee is responsible for keeping track of the 450 education bills in the legislature.

She says she never tries to hide or advertise her prison status. "I feel more at ease and they do, too, if I joke about it with the secretaries in the office who know about it."

Her sentence, like that of most of the other women she lives with, was a result of the drug culture.

She was selling drugs to support a heroin habit when arrested in St. Petersburg. An arrest in 1970 led to probation, and the second time she was sentenced to 15 months. She is due for release July 1.

Miss Harlee spent the first 11 months of her sentence in Lowell Correctional Institution and is thankful for the transition period.

"It would be hard just to walk out after being locked up 15 months," she said.

The women live in a rented house in a residential section of Tallahassee, do their own cooking and cleaning and "somewhat make the rules," said Rini Bartlett, an administrative assistant in the corrections department who lives with the women and three counselors.

The work release women are allowed to check out in groups to go shopping. "They do their own thing ... with guidance," said Miss Bartlett.

Set Ellsberg trial disclosures

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Judge Matt Byrne is expected to disclose today the contents of an affidavit by former White House aide Egil Krogh in efforts to clarify reports linking the Pentagon papers trial to the Watergate affair.

Convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt has said Krogh ordered a break-in at the office of the psychiatrist of Daniel Ellsberg, a defendant in the Pentagon papers trial in U.S. District Court here. Krogh is on leave from his job as undersecretary of transportation.

Further complicating the case, attorneys for defendants Ellsberg and Anthony Russo say they are considering asking the U.S. 9th Circuit Court of Appeal to throw out the Pentagon papers indictment on grounds the judge was "compromised."

They have complained because a now-resigned presidential adviser, John D. Ehrlichman, recently discussed the possibility of Byrne's becoming FBI director.

And Judge Byrne, confronted by what he calls "crucial legal problems," still is considering declaring a mistrial or dismissal of charges.

But he has indicated that no amount of official wrongdoing would sway his considering the central legal issue: Was any illegal evidence used by the Justice Department in the prosecution of Ellsberg and Russo?

The two men have been charged with espionage, conspiracy and theft for copying the Pentagon's top secret study of the Vietnam war.

Pressing for a jury verdict, prosecutor David Nissen has said he will show that the Justice Department never used "tainted evidence." The defense attorneys insist this never could be known for sure.

Recent events complicating the trial came in this order:

—Tuesday, May 1: The judge made public an FBI interview with Ehrlichman, who said he knew Hunt and Liddy had burglarized the doctor's office and told them "not to do this again." Ehrlichman said the two had been hired for a special investigation of the Pentagon papers leak to the press, desired by President Nixon. He said the investigation was handled out of the office of two White House aides—Krogh and David Young. The defense moved for dismissal.

—Wednesday, May 2: The judge, defending himself against defense accusations that the government had tried to "bribe" him, gave more details of his meetings with Ehrlichman and brief introductions to Nixon and foreign policy adviser Henry A. Kissinger. He said that the Pentagon papers trial was not discussed and that he refused to consider the post of FBI director until the trial was completed.

House may update panels

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even Congress has its "impossible" dreams and the House is pursuing one now—an effort to modernize its committee jurisdictions to reflect present-day concerns.

The effort was begun last week under a select 10-member committee headed by Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., who has long served in and studied the House, and knows what he's up against.

"This is an 'impossible' task, with 'impossible' in quotes," he told the House last January when it set up the committee and gave it $1.5 million for the two-year job.

What Bolling meant was that, like other congressional reforms that seemed impossible at first but were finally achieved, this one has everything against it right now but still might come off.

The committee system is the vital structure of Congress. All legislation proceeds through committees to the House floor, and each committee's jurisdiction is its sole purpose for existing.

For this reason, any attempt to change or realign jurisdictions goes to the fundamental organization of the House, the power of every member—especially the committee chairmen—and the concern of every vested interest in the nation.

One thing the Bolling committee has going for it is a wide acceptance by House members of the fact that something has to be done to make Congress a more effective institution.

It has been 25 years since Congress looked at its committee structure and during that time there have been vast shifts in public policies and national interests. Attempts to deal with them through existing committees involve strenuous contortions.

The environment, energy, urban problems, health, population growth—all matters of consuming present-day interest—have to be dealt with piecemeal by many committees.

In the area of transportation, for example, air travel is a matter for the Commerce Committee; highways are under the Public Works Committee, and mass transit is the concern of the Banking and Currency Committee.

"There is too much obsolescence, too much structural decay, too many cross-jurisdictions and overlaps, too much erosion by time in our committees," said Rep. John C. Culver, D-Iowa, in a letter to his House colleagues last December that helped get the current study under way.

Culver is one of five Democrats on the Bolling committee. The others, in addition to Bolling, are Reps. Robert G. Stephens, Ga.; Lloyd Meeds, Wash., and Paul S. Sarbanes, Md. The Republican members are Dave Martin, Neb.; Peter H.B. Frelinghuysen, N.J.; Charles E. Wiggins, Calif.; William A. Steiger, Wis., and Bill Young, Fla.

Also favoring the committee's effort is the solid support of the House leadership, both Republican and Democratic. Speaker Carl Albert, breaking a century-old tradition against a speaker testifying before a House committee, was the first witness when the hearings opened, and Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford was the second.

Twisters, hail pound Plains; heavy snow covers Rockies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A storm with damaging winds, large hailstones and several tornadoes lashed at the Plains today after hitting the Rockies with heavy snow and torrential rain.

Several tornadoes touched down in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas Sunday night with some property damage in Texas. Golfball-sized hail pounded north central Oklahoma and 50-mile-an-hour winds were common.

The vigorous spring storm marched out of the Rockies in New Mexico and Colorado, where a tornado early Sunday destroyed a mobile home and injured five persons. Snow up to 20 inches accumulated in the Rockies east of the Continental Divide.

About 1,000 residents of the Denver area were forced from their homes by a severe flood which washed out bridges, closed roads and cut off power Sunday.

Flood warnings remained in effect for the South Platte River from Denver downstream to the Nebraska border. Interstate 25 in Denver was closed by the flooding and seven bridges were fully or partially washed out in the area.

The storm intensified and drifted toward the Texas Panhandle early today.

A severe thunderstorm watch was issued for parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas. Heavy rains brought almost 2 inches to McAlester, Okla and Harrison, Ark., and over an inch to San Antonio, Tex., and Waynesville, Mo.

A flash flood watch was issued for Arkansas and Illinois and a flash flood warning for Arkansas and Texas.

The Mississippi River at Memphis, Tenn., was expected to crest for the second time today. The annual Cotton Carnival over the weekend was hampered by the swollen river. King Cotton was forced to appear at a bandshell rather than arriving on a royal barge with his court to celebrate ths region's top crop.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 30 at Bradford, Pa., and Montpelier, Vt., to 78 at Key West, Fla.

Convoy arrives in Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The first Mekong River convoy to reach Phnom Penh in two weeks arrived today after losing a tanker to Communist fire.

Meanwhile, reports reached Phnom Penh that Cambodian insurgents overran a post 34 miles northwest of the capital last Friday, captured about 100 troops and slaughtered them.

Port authorities said the convoy of three tankers, three freighters and three munitions barges from South Vietnam came under heavy attack from shore fire 26 miles from Phnom Penh. One of the tankers carrying petroleum was sunk and two of the freighters were set ablaze by rocket fire. But the freighter crews put out the fires.

The crew of the tanker Vera No. 1 reportedly jumped overboard before she sank and government gunboats escorting the convoy picked all of them up.

U.S. taxpayers foot costs of idle ships awaiting grain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxpayers are spending between $50,000 and $100,000 a day in subsidies for at least 20 huge tankers waiting in U.S. ports, often for weeks, to be loaded with wheat and corn for the Soviet Union.

And even larger subsidies will be paid while the ships are at sea, an Associated Press survey shows.

In all, government officials say, 83 U.S.-owned ships have qualified for the special subsidies to haul grain to the Soviet Union.

"We don't know what the total subsidy bill will be," says R.A. Coonin, a spokesman for the Federal Maritime Administration. "Any figure I give you now would be understated."

Coonin said in an interview the waiting time in ports is "of growing concern" and that efforts are being made by the government, the shipping industry and the grain trade to speed schedules.

Meanwhile, he admitted, it still is common for ships to wait for weeks at Gulf ports, where most of the grain is loaded. In all, he said, the total time involving federal subsidies, including actual shipping and return, is commonly 60 to 90 days.

The subsidies vary according to size of ship and cost factors. While at sea the subsidy rate usually is $500 to $1,000 per day more than when the ships are in port waiting to take on grain.

Few of the larger tankers reportedly qualify for subsidies in excess of $10,000 at sea. Officials say most receive less.

The subsidies are paid so that U.S. ships, much more expensive to use than foreign vessels, can haul part of the $1 billion worth of wheat, corn and soybeans sold to Russia last year.

The ships—nearly all tankers—begin earning subsidies as soon as they reach the port where they take on grain.

An example is the Gulf Queen, a tanker with a capacity of 35,000 tons. Many are larger. At least two U.S.-owned tankers used for grain hauling since the subsidy arrangement began last October are in the 70,000-ton class.

According to Maritime Administration officials, the Gulf Queen arrived in Port Arthur, Tex., on March 12. For nearly seven weeks, at a federal subsidy estimated at $4,200 per day, the ship stood idly by while others took their turns at elevator grain-loading spouts.

Finally, on April 24, the Gulf Queen sailed for a Soviet port on the Black Sea with 32,500 tons of grain. While making the round-trip voyage—estimated at about 20 days "sea time" each way—the Gulf Queen will draw approximately $4,800 a day in federal subsidies for her owners, identified by the Maritime Administration as Blackships, Inc., a subsidiary of Gulf Oil Corp., New York.

Link CIA deputy chief to burglary

NEW YORK (AP) — Sources say that while Marine Corps Commandant Robert E. Cushman Jr. was serving as deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency he gave the go-ahead for CIA assistance in the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's former psychiatrist, the New York Times said today.

Ellsberg is a defendant in the Pentagon papers trial.

The Times, quoting sources close to the Watergate case, said Gen. Cushman authorized the use of CIA material and research for the burglary at the request of former Presidential assistant John D. Ehrlichman.

Cushman, who left the CIA in 1971, reportedly accepted full responsibility for the decision to let the CIA assist in preparations for the break-in, the Times said.

In grand jury testimony last Wednesday, E. Howard Hunt Jr. told of using disguises, fake identification papers and a "safehouse" in Washington provided by the CIA in advance of the burglary.

Ohio skies were cloudy this morning, and the National Weather Service said showers and thunderstorms were likely in most sections of the state later in the day.

A few showers were reported overnight, mainly in northwestern counties.

Southerly winds kept temperatures noticeably warmer than the previous few nights, with daybreak readings mostly in the 50s. Coolest spot was Youngstown with 49 degrees.

Temperatures were expected to climb into the 60s and 70s today and Tuesday before a cold front moves into the area Tuesday night, bringing showers and cooler air.

Mild with a chance of showers each day. Highs in the 70s and lows in the 50s.

River floods dim prospects for planting

By CRAIG AMMERMAN
Associated Press Writer

The Mississippi River is expected to remain stable and out of its banks for the next several days from St. Louis to the Gulf of Mexico.

Farmers whose crops are in danger of not being planted this year were reported to be working through the night in some areas to dry the land and attempt to salvage something.

But as new rains fell Sunday night and today in Illinois and Missouri, prospects for crops grew dimmer.

For the first time in weeks, the Mississippi was below flood stage at Davenport, Iowa, the northern end of the flood area. Downstream to the Gulf it remained above flood stage and crests at southernmost points were not expected until the end of the week.

At St. Louis, the river was beginning to feel the effects of last week's rains in Iowa and Illinois. It was expected to remain stable at seven feet above flood stage until Wednesday.

The new rains that fell today prompted the National Weather Service to issue flash flood watches for sections of Illinois, but no flooding was reported. In Missouri, a weather service forecaster said rivers would begin to rise again if today's rains amounted to two inches or more.

From Illinois south to Louisiana and Mississippi an estimated 12 million acres of normally dry land is inundated by the floodwaters. Much of it is prime farmland, where cotton, wheat, corn, soybeans and sugarcane should be growing but has yet to be planted.

Group to fight Cincinnati levy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A Roman Catholic lobbying group has announced opposition to a 4.8 operating levy for Cincinnati schools on the Tuesday ballot.

James Condit, president of Ohio Citizens for Educational Freedom, said the group has vowed to work against any public school issue until children in parochial schools benefit from public tax money.

Stock list goes lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices tumbled lower today, ending their rally of last week, and brokers attributed the plunge to investor concern over inflation and Watergate.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 8.88 to 944.99 at noon, and declines outnumbered advances by nearly 3 to 2 in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts had hoped the market would continue to add to the 32 points the Dow gained last week but said the increasing numbers of banks boosting their prime lending rates from 6¾ to 7 per cent was a negative factor. Another depressing influence was the likely possibility that sheet-steel prices would be boosted soon by as much as 6 per cent.

"The Watergate mess has put a damper on things," added Charles M. Lewis of Winkler, Cantor & Pomboy. "While it seems to have moved away slightly, the issue still is on people's minds."

Levitz Furniture, the most active issue on the Big Board, climbed ½ to 8⅝ after a 69,700-share block moved at 8½.

Toledo police report 'sick'

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo policemen were reporting in sick this morning in the wake of a continuing wage dispute.

A police department spokesman said only probationary officers showed up on the Sunday night and this morning shifts.

Command officers were manning about 15 patrol cars in the city Monday and the spokesman said other services could be maintained for a short time.

Federal management commission negotiations with police collapsed late last week.

State solons face light floor agenda

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A relatively light floor agenda faces the 110th General Assembly this week, as the spotlight focuses on committee actions on the budget and a code of ethics bill.

The $9.9 billion budget and the ethics bill have been approved in the Democratic-dominated House and are now in the upper chamber.

Hearings on the appropriations bill have been set for 1:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. by the Senate Finance Committee.

The ethics bill for public officials was approved in the House Wednesday. It is expected to be formally reported to the Senate and assigned to the Judiciary Committee for hearings.

The House is to reconvene at 11 a.m. Tuesday and the Senate at 4 p.m. on that same day for floor sessions.

A bill before the Senate Tuesday, sponsored by Sen. William H. Mussey, R-14 Batavia, would raise the clerk's fees on temporary hunting and fishing licenses from 35 to 50 cents.

The measure would cover costs of licenses issued by Common Pleas court clerks to persons who have lost their regular permits.

The House is to vote Tuesday on a bill that would change state law and permit liquor permit holders to provide free food with the sale of alcoholic beverages.

That proposed law would merely bring it in line with customary practices, according to Liquor Director Richard Guggenheim. The prohibition against free food with liquor was adopted in 1934.

Israelis celebrate 25th anniversary

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel celebrated its 25th year of independence today with a three-hour display of the mightiest array of military hardware ever seen at one time in the Middle East. It included new weapons exhibited to the public for the first time.

Six minutes after the march began, the air force's jet fighters screamed over and continued on over population centers from the Lebanese border on the north to the Red Sea on the south, a flight of 52 minutes.

On display were Soviet tanks captured in the 1967 war and remodeled by the Israelis for frontline service, a new Israeli-designed armored halftrack outfitted with antiaircraft guns and artillery pieces and helicopters from the United States.

An estimated 300,000 persons were in the grandstands, and police said an equal number had seen the parade in dress rehearsals held during late night hours last week.

Armed troops kept watchful eyes on the crowd, ready for any attempt by Arab guerrillas to disrupt the celebration.

A hundred ambulances and 1,000 medical personnel were standing by.

The parade was the object of much criticism, at home as well as abroad. The United Nations asked that it be cancelled because part of its route lay through Arab East Jerusalem, recaptured from Jordan in the 1967 war, and that would anger the Arab nations. Many Israelis contended that the $4.7 million being spent on the parade should be used for social welfare. Others felt it contributed to an undesirable warlike image.

The government rejected all objections.

Independence celebrations began Sunday night after a memorial day for the nation's war dead. The celebrating kept up until dawn.

Visitors from all over the nation camped in the parks of Jerusalem and noisily wandered the streets of Tel Aviv and Haifa.

Fireworks displays throughout the country lit the skies.

In Tel Aviv, bands played from street corner bandstands, and dancing young people jammed blocked off streets.

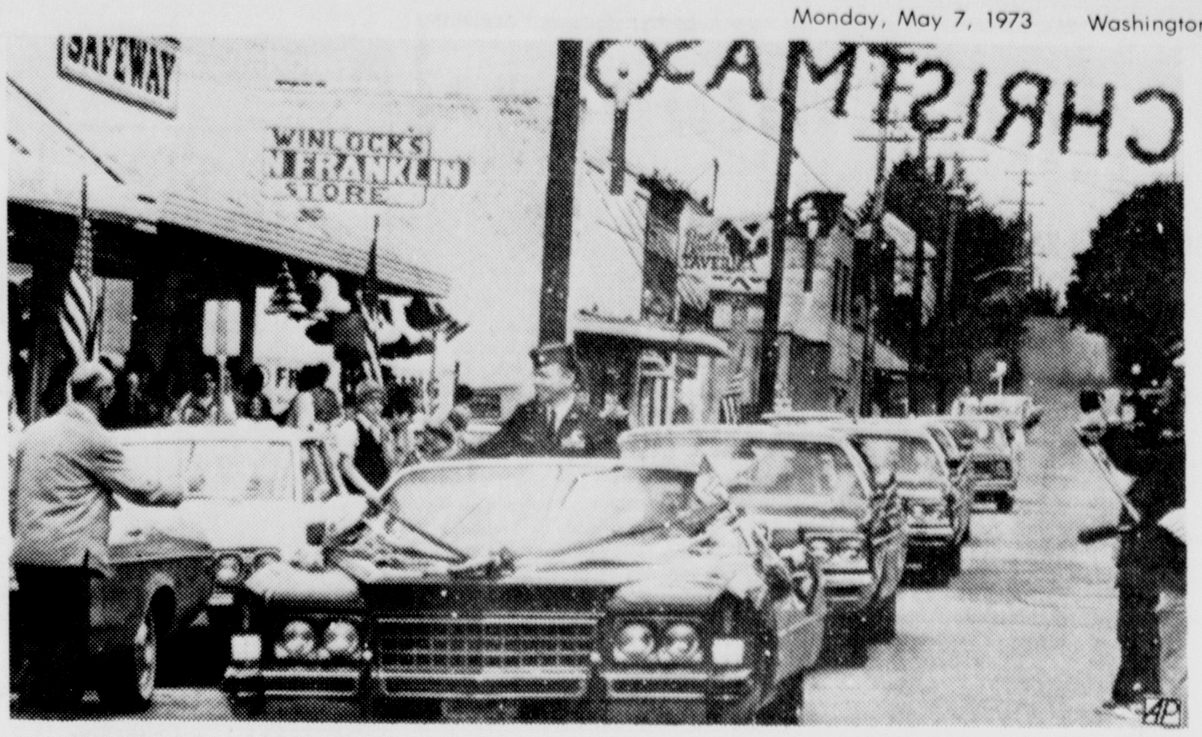
In the territories north, east and south of Jerusalem that Israel occupied in 1967, the joyful mood was replaced by indifference tinged with bitterness.

"The Israelis are the winners, and we are the losers, and this is a celebration of the winners," said Elias Shehada, a 27-year-old Arab hotelman.'

The police station in Jericho was decked with the blue and white colors of the Jewish state; there were no decorations in the rest of the lush Arab town, the home of many Palestinians displaced by the 1948 war that followed Israel's independence proclamation.

Premier Golda Meir in an anniversary television interview said Sunday that she had proposed secret peace talks to President Anwar Sadat of Egypt through several intermediaries but had received no answer.

Mrs. Meir said she assured Sadat that "we really want peace," that the talks would "remain secret for as long as he desires" and that they could be carried on by representatives of the two countries rather than by the leaders themselves.



CHRISTMAS COMES FOR EX-WAR PRISONER — Maj. Edward W. Leonard Jr. rides through his home town of Winlock, Wash., to cheers of Merry Christmas. New camera valuable in medicine

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP) — An ultrasonic camera being developed will display live television images of internal organs including their movements and other soft tissues invisible to X rays, researchers say.

The scientists at Stanford Research Institute hope the device will prove effective for detecting heart disease, cancer, and other diseases, as well as recording the movement of the human fetus.

Special prosecutor question

High administration figures are being more and more deeply implicated in the wide-ranging political espionage and sabotage scandal. Each fresh disclosure lends further emphasis to the need for a special prosecutor brought in front outside the Justice Department to supervise the investigation.

Saying this is not intended as a reflection on Elliot Richardson, who has replaced Richard G. Kleindienst as attorney general. However, it must be noted that while Richardson is an able public servant of thus far unquestioned integrity and devotion to duty, he is nonetheless an administration man. Considerations of propriety and good sense suggest that with the scandal reaching into the White House itself it would be advisable to have someone not identified with the administration direct the official inquiry into this sordid matter.

Two key questions confront us: What kind of man should be entrusted with this task, and how should he be chosen? As to the first point, certainly the special prosecutor ought to be a distinguished member of the bar who not only has no direct ties with the administration but also has not played a markedly partisan role in public life.

Should the choice be left in the hands of the attorney general, as the President intimated in his Watergate address? In our judgment the choice would be more acceptable if it were made, whether or not by Richardson, from a list drawn up by persons of outstanding reputation comprising a bipartisan panel.

The lesson of events two decades ago, when a special prosecutor was named to investigate corruption in the Truman administration, should be heeded. On that occasion Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath named a distinguished New Yorker, Newbold Morris, as a special assistant attorney general for this purpose. The Morris appointment was excoriated as a coverup, and he was denied subpoena powers. He acted boldly nevertheless, but was fired by McGrath - who in turn was fired by Truman - and the Justice Department wound up making its own inquiry.

We do not imply that any similar fiasco would result were Richardson to appoint a special prosecutor without outside consultation. We do suggest that it is a possibility which ought to be avoided.

There is a way to avert any such outcome in the investigation of what looks like one of the major scandals in American Political history. This is to make certain that the person singled out for the job will come to it with the strongest possible assurances as to his or her probity and impartiality.

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Israel's 25th anniversary

On the tenth anniversary of the Soviet Union, or thereabouts, Karl Radek, the irreverent imp among Marxist theorists, said to the American journalist Ernestine Evans: "There must be something to this Marxism-Leninism. We're still here."

On the 25th anniversary of the state of Israel, celebrated this week, similar sentiments about the strength of Zionism are surely being expressed in Jerusalem and all the way from Dan to Beersheba. Israel is still here.

To anyone who has visited Israel, which discounting the sands of Sinai, is no larger than New Jersey or Connecticut, the fact of its existence is a geographical miracle. Its 2,600,000 Jews (up from the 650,000 of 1948) live, many of them joyously, in an enclave of surrounding Arab states that have 40 times its population.

The nation exists by its wits and technical skills (one of its big money-making exports is cut diamonds for which the crude stones have to be imported from Africa, and it trades its own superior grain for money that buys less desirable but nourishing substitutes, thus leaving a balance of savings in the bank).

WHERE RELIGION does not serve as the binder, a sense of history does. The driver who took me up and down Israel, Benny Bitter (a quite unbitter man), loved unorthodox Arab food, but clung to Biblical texts as "the history of my people." Since 1948 a million and a half Jews — the Diaspora in reverse — have come as immigrants to Israel from 102 separate countries.

They were the Sephardic Jews from Moorish lands of Africa, or Ashkenazic Jews from the Rhineland or Vienna, or even agnostics from Brooklyn or the Bronx, yet the pressures of the Hitler-haunted times made them homogeneous in spite of ethical, spiritual or economic differences.

I have some good Arab friends, and I wish I could convince them that the time has come to forget their understandable grievances about the displacement of Palestinians in the war of 1948. The Arabs are not going to rid themselves of Israel by force. The Israelis can fly jets in disciplined fashion; they can even make Mirage planes from the blueprints they spirited out of France.

They have the capacity to put together nuclear weapons if they should ever need them in a pinch. The Israeli young may have their differences with the Golda Meir generation, but only a handful of the youths questions the need to serve in a technologically proficient army of 420,000.

The watch at Sharm el-Sheik at the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba in the south, along the Golan Heights in the north, and at some nicely calculated strategic point in the middle of the Sinai desert in the west, will be kept no matter what is done about ceding captured territory to the Egyptians along the Suez Canal or to Jordan on the West Bank in the region of Nablus.

The Arabs have all those oil revenues, and they could buy a good life for any Palestinian who wishes a destiny outside — or even inside — the State of Israel. This may not be deemed heroic.

But to pursue absolute justice in a world of imperfect men is idiotic. The British loyalists who fled mainland America for the Bahamas or Nova Scotia in 1776 made their peace with events. Besides, the Palestinian Arabs were themselves late comers to Israel; Jews were there several millennia before the Arabs filtered in, and they were never totally displaced even at the height of the Diaspora. When the Egyptians talk of pushing the Israelis into the sea, they forget that a major part of the contested land was legitimately purchased by returning Jews who drained the swamps and irrigated the desert to make a fruitful agriculture where none had existed since Biblical times.

IF THE ARABS would only desist, they might find a great boon in cooperating with the Israelis to make the Middle East bloom. The Israelis have the skills to put atomic energy to work distilling fresh irrigation water from salt. They know how to anchor hillside soil by planting trees. They have sent their experts into the non-Moslem areas of Africa to teach modern agriculture, and their technicians have even turned up in the arid northeast of Brazil to help pull a stricken area up by its bootstraps.

After a state has existed for 25 years and proved its capacity to fend off a continuing encirclement with elan and esprit, it is time to say it is here for good. When Nixon and Kissinger take their cause of a new Atlantic Charter to Europe, the protection of Israel should be written into it. Once that is done, the problem of giving justice to displaced Palestinian Arabs will not be too difficult to solve in peace.

Hal Boyle . . .

Look gift horse in mouth

by JOY STILLEY

Editor's Note: Hal Boyle is ill.

NEW YORK (AP) — Always look a gift horse in the mouth. Otherwise it might bite you.

My steed arrived through the courtesy of my husband, who had won a $10 gift certificate at an office party.

He turned it over to me because (choose one): he is generous to a fault; he does not need anything; the certificate came from a woman's specialty shop.

"Easy come, easy go," I muttered happily as I dashed off to the store to exchange my windfall for something really frivolous. Alas! Frivolity comes with a high price tag in that particular shop. I decided to settle for practicality.

Unfortunately, the store's practical things were also in the luxury class. Nowhere could I find a common meeting ground for my desires and the face value of my certificate. I tucked it in my purse to await the seasonal markdowns.

The spring sales came and I went bargain hunting. But with the temperature in the 70s I didn't feel a drastic need for a fringed mohair scarf.

I regularly transferred the certificate into the pocketbook du jour, never knowing when I might find my heart's desire. One day as I passed the store I decided to see if anything new — and cheap — had arrived, and reached for the now-frayed certificate.

Gone! Lost! A ten-dollar treat forever denied me! I chided myself for not having spent it speedily if not well.

When I eventually found it tucked in another purse I decided to use it immediately. My visit to the shop failed to turn up anything I really wanted so I finally concluded that an extra bottle of my favorite cologne would not go amiss.

It came to $7.50, plus tax. The saleslady regretfully declared that my change could only be given in a store scrip. Knowing full well that I could never find anything to use that $2-plus on, I grandly announced I would just take another bottle of the cologne.

With the tax, the transaction came to $16.05.

While the whole thing cost me $6.05, a lot of aisle-pounding and some moments of despair, I take comfort in the fact that I should still be smelling good by the time the next gift horse trots my way.

New tricks for an old law

Ever now and again an old law comes in handy for dealing with a current situation that may not even have been foreseen when the law was enacted. That is the situation with regard to Colorado oil sludge ponds which allegedly cause the deaths of thousands of migratory waterfowl. Seven Denver-based oil companies which maintain such ponds have been charged by the Department of Justice under a 50-year-old law enacted to protect migratory birds from poachers.

It is not poaching that is involved in this instance. What happens is that the sludge ponds, used to settle byproducts of drilling operations before the water is released into streams, become covered with oil. The muck penetrates the birds' feathers, and many die — up to 30,000 annually, according to claims being investigated by the U. S. Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife.

The oil firms are entitled to their day in court, and therefore our comments should not be taken as a prejudgment of the case. There appears to be little doubt, however, that oil-covered ponds have done in a lot of waterfowl.

Such birds are a part of our precious heritage of wildlife, and all reasonable effort must be made to protect them. If oil companies are guilty of creating a deadly condition, they should be required to take corrective action.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

His fear of nudity

leaves wife in the dark

By ABIGAIL VAN BURREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a Catholic widow married to a good Catholic widower. The problem is he won't let me into our bedroom while he's dressing or undressing. And if he's in the room while I'm undressing, he turns his head. He acts as if it's sinful for us to see each other undressed.

I thought maybe time would improve the situation, but it has been years, and he's still the same.

I must admit that our sex life is wonderful-in the dark. This may not seem like much of a problem but it makes me feel less of a wife, and I am hurt.

What is the official Catholic position on nudity, Abby? Perhaps the reason for my husband's attitude can be found there.

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: There is no Catholic doctrine on nudity. Nudity is the natural state and is so regarded in matrimonial affairs. You can't blame your husband's inhibited attitude on his religious upbringing. Leave well enough alone, lady.

DEAR ABBY: We're a couple of old goats. My husband is 72 and I'm 70. We're not in the best of health, but we're not feeble or senile (I hope), and the Lord willing, we will celebrate our 50th wedding anniversary in June.

We want to give a dinner party ourselves and invite our friends, relatives and a few neighbors, but our married daughter and son won't hear of it. THEY want to give the party and foot the bill.

Abby, we appreciate what the kids want to do, but they both have families and need their money. We want printed invitations with a line on the bottom, "No gifts, please." The kids are having a fit and say, "You just don't do that." (Abby, we don't need anything.) We don't want to make jackasses of ourselves, but at our stage in life we don't want more things. Help please.

MIDWEST READER

DEAR READER: Let the kids give the party, and don't suggest, "no gifts."

DEAR ABBY: My problem is so personal I cannot discuss it with anyone. I am 67 years old. I lost my husband two years ago, and at the same time I lost my hearing. It is amazing how your friends will desert you when you've lost your hearing, so I took up lipreading and sign language.

Last summer I met a 36-year-old man who is also deaf, and we have been having a wonderful romance. (I am discreet and do not flaunt it.)

I have no intentions of marrying the young man because if I did, I would lose all my benefits. Please let me know what you think. I will abide by your decision.

ANONYMOUS IN ARIZONA

DEAR ANON: As an adult, you may make your own decisions without concerning yourself with what your so-called friends say. I advise you to do just that.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, MAY 8

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

A day for remaining in the background. Your hunches are correct, but this is not the time for taking direct action. Only through subtlety will you win the gains you desire.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

An unexpected discovery you make will prove profitable. Your clue lies in reading between the lines, carefully studying the "fine print."

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Though innately an impatient soul, you will now have to let things take their course. Good developments are in the making but could be offset if you try to jump the gun.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Be ready for changes. Some surprising orders are given regarding your duties and responsibilities. Maintain your balance and avoid extremes.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

A good day for travel but you may need some additional information before taking off — especially where finances are concerned.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Avoid present tendencies toward self-deception. Take off the rose-colored glasses and see persons and situations as they really ARE.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Personal relationships highly congenial. In fact, your career status may be boosted through an influential person.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Stress your independence of thought. Don't let conservative associates talk you out of an unconventional idea.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Certain favorable situations in your work area now further your interests. An excellent day for handling matters of a confidential nature.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

A day when you MUST stress optimism. That feeling of foreboding you have is merely a mood — and will pass.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Don't mix business with pleasure now and don't press issues. As with Gemini, it will be better to let things take their course for the time being.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Some deceptive influences. Someone may try to involve you in a dubious activity. Steer clear and don't listen.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a multitude of fine qualities and the potentials for attainment of a high order. Unlike most Taureans, your talents run more to business organization and finance rather than to the creative. You do, however, have the same love of beauty and artistry as others of your Sign, but may satisfy it by becoming an exhibitor of patron of the arts. Innately, you are precise, methodical, loyal and have a great love for mankind and for the outdoors. Fields in which you could make an outstanding success, aside from the aforementioned business and finance: the law, statesmanship; manufacturing and forestry.

Expected demand for steel to outstrip industry output

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — There is no decrease in steel demand, but steel companies can't continue to ship at current levels, Industry Week magazine said Monday.

It said that shipments will decline in the third quarter because incoming orders exceed the industry's capacity to make steel.

"Mills have been maintaining record-level shipments so far this year only by drawing upon their own inventories," Industry Week said.

Raw steel production in April was at a record high for that month, according to the magazine, which estimated the April output at 12.8 million net tons. This compared with the previous high for April, 12,565,000 tons, in 1971.

Industry Week estimated raw steel production last week at 2,997,000 tons.

"The help that imports were giving in supplying steel to U.S. users may be about ended," it said. "Major steel companies are forecasting a dramatic drop in steel imports this year.

"Imports in March were 1,169,807 net tons, third highest on record for the month. Imports in January and February set records for those months. The record total for the first quarter is 3,856,510 net tons and first half totals may also be a record."

Some people believe that steel imports to the U.S. this year will not be more than 14 million tons, compared with last year's 17,681,007 net tons and the record of 18,303,959 tons in 1971, Industry Week said.

"Strong world demand and higher prices on foreign steel are the main reasons," it added.

The magazine said high production of steel and the accompanying need for scrap, a raw material for steelmaking, pushed up scrap prices.

Its price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap rose to $48.17 per gross ton last week from the preceding week's $47.17.

Peanut Butter Pinwheels

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

If you are an experienced baker and like to fuss with food, you'll be interested in this recipe for Peanut Butter Pinwheels. The dough is easy enough to make but having the chocolate-filled rolls at just the right temperature takes some judgment. Good luck!

PEANUT BUTTER PINWHEELS

2 cups unsifted flour, stir to aerate before measuring
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter
½ cup creamy peanut butter
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1-3 cup granulated sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
Chocolate Filling, see below

On wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt.

In a large mixing bowl cream butter and peanut butter; gradually beat in sugars. Add egg and vanilla and beat until blended. Gradually stir in flour mixture. Form dough into a ball, cover with plastic wrap and chill while preparing filling.

Divide chilled dough in half. Roll out one half of dough between two sheets of wax paper to a 10 by 8 inch rectangle. Slip dough with wax paper onto a cookie sheet and refrigerate to chill. Roll out remaining half of dough the same way. Remove first half of dough from refrigerator and place second half in refrigerator.

Remove top sheet of wax paper from chilled dough. Spread dough with one-half (1-3 cup) of the Chocolate Filling. Roll up tightly from 10-inch side using wax paper to aid in the rolling. Gently press edge to seal. Wrap roll in plastic wrap and refrigerate. Repeat filling and rolling with second half of dough.

Chill rolls of dough about 1 hour or until they can be sliced. If too cold, chocolate will crumble. If chilled several hours, remove from refrigerator and let soften at room temperature until dough is soft enough to slice well — 15 to 30 minutes. Using a thin sharp knife, cut rolls into ¼-inch slices. Place slices 1 inch apart on lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until lightly browned — 6 to 8 minutes. Cool on wire cake racks. Store in tightly covered tin box.

Makes about 6½ dozen.

CHOCOLATE FILLING

In a small heavy saucepan over low heat, stirring constantly, melt one 6-ounce package (1 cup) semisweet chocolate pieces and 2 tablespoons butter. Cool at room temperature but do not let chocolate harden. Makes about 2-3 cup.

A 10-ounce package of sliced frozen strawberries will make enough topping for a quart of ice cream. Sprinkle the ice with flaked coconut and call the dessert a sundae.

Add minced chives to eggs that are going to be scrambled: then just before the eggs are ready, fold in cottage cheese. Delicious for a weekend brunch.

4-H'ers find sewing clothes fun

Sewing your own clothes is easy, say these two 4-H'ers. And they add, you'll really look great besides. Members enrolled in the 4-H clothing program find out how easy, enjoyable and fun making your own wardrobe can be. Boys as well as girls are encouraged to participate in the program. Aiding the 4-H boys and girls with educational aids, and incentive and recognition awards is Coats & Clark, Inc., donor of awards in the 4-H clothing program.

It doesn't take years of sewing experience to create a modern wardrobe for yourself. New products and new fabrics have made home sewing easier and more enjoyable.

The 786,000 4-H girls and boys enrolled in the national 4-H clothing program are using needles and thread and sewing machines, fabric, patterns and notions to create clothing that's appealing, attractive and confortable for themselves, their friends, and others.

Supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service and sponsored by Coats & Clark, Inc., the 4-H clothing program helps 4-H'ers become knowledgeable consumers. They learn to buy fabrics, sewing equipment, notions, accessories. Awareness of new fabrics and new products related to home sewing and the care of clothing are stressed in the program.

Along with developing sewing skills and having the satisfaction of wearing garments they've made, 4-H'ers also share what they've learned with others.

Carol Myers, a 1972 national winner in the 4-H clothing program, taught sewing techniques to 92 low income girls in her home town of Winston-Salem, N.C. The program she began was so successful that local officials used it as a pattern for similar programs in other locations.

The creativity involved in making their own clothes also leads 4-H members toward careers in the field of fashion. Patricia Vandeventer, another 1972 national winner, from Tulsa, Okla, is preparing for a career in the fashion designer because of her 4-H clothing experiences. "My interest in fashion design sharpened (in the 4-H clothing program) as I saw how my artistic ability and creative nature could be used in a clothing career," Miss Vandeventer commented.

Coats & Clark, Inc., which has supported the 4-H clothing program for 33 years, provides incentives and recognition for involved young people. Up to four county winners received medals of honor, while the top 4-H clothing winner in each state receives an expense-paid trip to the 52nd National 4-H Congress in Chicago, No. 25-29.

At the national event, six are chosen by the Cooperative Extension Service to receive $700 educational scholarships, courtesy of Coats & Clark, Inc.

The awards donor also provides 4-H members and leaders with instruction booklets on numerous sewing techniques that will help them improve their skills.

For more information about the 4-H clothing program, contact the county extension office.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences this year is giving its Emmy awards in two separate shows—one for entertainment and the other for news achievements.

The entertainment awards— voted on by members of the TV entertainment industry—will be given out May 20 in Los Angeles in ceremonies broadcast by the ABC television network.

Two days later, CBS will televise Emmy news awards ceremonies here. And who were the judges for these awards?

All were TV critics from newspapers around the country. They convened in Chicago two weekends ago to view the entries and cast ballots.

Their expenses for the Chicago trip were paid by the academy, according to an academy spokeswoman who said between 60 and 70 TV critics took part in the voting.

Broadcast newsmen weren't invited to participate in the voting for Emmy news awards because of possible conflict-of-interest, according to academy officials. Okay. But why TV critics?

Why not print journalists who've covered the stories cited in the Emmy news nominations and know first-hand the time, work, contacts and deadline pressures involved in getting these stories?

Academy officials say print journalists might exhibit bias against their electronic brethren.

And, says the academy spokeswoman, the idea of TV critics as judges was endorsed by the networks and recommended by the journalism school professors who've judged TV news for he academy in the past.

Spring isn't over, but the ABC, CBS and NBC summer evening entertainment schedules already are out. And it appears CBS will have an all-rerun summer unless the current Writers' Guild strike is resolved by early June.

A new variety show and two situation comedies were scheduled to start in July until the strike put them in doubt, CBS says.

NBC's summer schedule calls for two weekly shows. One, a country music show taped in the Nashville area, is scheduled to appear Thursday nights, starting July 19.

It isn't affected by the strike. The other show, a musical variety program hosted by singer Helen Reddy, is affected. If the dispute continues, her show won't start in mid-June as planned and reruns of other shows will be offered, NBC says.

ABC has three original situation comedy series and an hour comedy-variety show coming up in the summer weeks. It says none of the shows is affected by the writers' strike.

Two of the situation comedies—"Thicker Than Water" and "Love Thy Neighbor"—debut June 13 and June 15, respectively. The third, "Corner Bar," is the same series that appeared on ABC last summer. It now has a new cast, fresh pretzels and is scheduled to appear Aug. 3.

A teaspoon of lemon juice may be added to rice that is being cooked. The lemon juice helps keep the rice white.

Demo dinner tickets go well

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A promise of cold weather and sophisticated mail and telephone solicitation operations are credited as helping early ticket sales to the Ohio Democratic party's May 12 $100 a plate fund raising dinner here, party official David A. Meeker said.

Meeker said the dinner was moved up this year by three weeks as a result of last year's experience with very warm weather.

Gov. John J. Gilligan jokingly told the audience that they got a steak and a sauna for their $100 contributions, Meeker said.

The party official said virtually all proceeds from this year's fund-raiser will be saved for use in statewide campaigns in 1974. Because 1973 "is not a statewide election year," Meeker said, "we will invest the dinner proceeds in high-yield certificates of deposit to help finance next year's campaigns."

Athens sniping brings arrest

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — David R. Gedeon, a former Ohio University graduate student, was expected to be arraigned in Athens County Municipal court today in connection with a sniping incident in Athens Saturday.

Athens police said Gedeon, 23, is to be arraigned on two charges of assault with a deadly weapon.

Detectives said they answered a call Saturday night that someone was shooting at cars on a main street in the city.

Officers said they found a .22 caliber rifle in Gedeon's possession after they routed him from his apartment with tear gas.

Gilligan speaks on ERA, ethics

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Gov. John J. Gilligan held out hopes Sunday that a Senate committee will reconsider this week the vote by which it rejected the federal equal rights amendment for women.

Gilligan, speaking to the Associated Press Society of Ohio, indicated the motion would be made. He said he had talked to several committee members but didn't believe ERA had the votes to get to the floor.

Gilligan said he had considered establishing some form of investigative staff in the executive branch to probe cases of influence-peddling and bribery accusations within the Department of Commerce.

The governor said the Watergate scandals on the national level and apparent wrong-doing among persons in his own administration underscored the need for ethics legislation.

"I think it is evident we have people in public office who cannot distinguish what is ethical conduct and what is unethical," Gilligan said.

During a question and answer session following his breakfast talk, Gilligan admitted that recent charges of wrong-doing within his administration were "damaging" when related to events in the Watergate scandal.

He said no public official had "any cause for glee" over the Watergate events because it damaged public trust in government.

"We will not tolerate in this administration unethical conduct, let alone illegality," Gilligan said.

Noting Ohio has some 52,000 persons on the state payroll, he said it was impossible to make sure all of them were ethical. "Do we attempt to cover it up or do we root it out?" he asked, saying he would do the latter.

Gilligan applauded the press for its role in exposing wrongdoing in the Watergate scandal as well as reports of illegal acts within his own administration.

The governor predicted the attacks on the press would cease in view of what has been exposed. He said the press' expose of Watergate was "a great public service."

"A free press, like free men, has much greater responsibility than an enslaved press or enslaved men," he said.

Gilligan urged the press to go after what it considered bad within his administration but said if what it was probing turned out to be good "they should say that."

2 Ohio teenagers die in Indiana crash

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Two Ohio teenagers attending Manchester College in Indiana were killed Sunday when their car was struck by a Penn Central Freight train on a Wabash County road north of Manchester.

Police said the two 19-year-olds, Robin E. Hutcheson of West Milton and Bradley E. Besecker of rural Laura, were killed when their car was hit at a railroad crossing.

Twenty-eight separate kinds of rattlesnakes live from southern Canada to Uruguay, but most live in the dry region from the southwestern states of the United States through the Mexican highlands.

WC students to offer opera

WILMINGTON — Wilmington College students will present the opera, "The Triumph of Honor," by Allesandro Scarlatti May 19 and 20 at 8 p.m. in Boyd Auditorium.

Director of the opera is Mrs. Patricia Giesbrecht, assistant prefessor of music at Wilmington College. Conductor is Robert J. Haskins, associate professor of music and chairman of the department. Haskins will also play the recitatives on the harpsichord, as was the tradition when the opera was first performed in 1718 in Naples.

The cast includes Mareta Alden and Gwen Bogan of Wilmington; Elizabeth Brookie, of Rt. 1, Frankfort, Cecil Brown, Eugene Clark, Wayne Dunn, Lisa Gefvert, Steven Haines, of Wilmington, Jackie Martin and Terri Miller.

Scarlatti's work, his only comic opera, is the earliest example of a full-length opera buffa in literary Italian. At Wilmington College, the comedy will be sung in English.

Sears Tower topped out in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A 2,500-pound carbon steel beam signed by hundreds of Sears Roebuck and Co. employes was hoisted more than a quarter of a mile into the air Thursday to top out the Sears Tower, officially making the structure the world's tallest.

The steel and glass super building on the southeastern section of Chicago's downtown area rises 1,454 feet-110 stories—and measures 4.5 million square feet.

Under construction since 1970 at a cost of more than $150 million, the skyscraper surpasses in height the previous world's tallest building — the world Trade Center in New York City — by 104 feet. The third highest at 1,250 feet is the Empire State building in New York.

With a proposed television mast, the Sear Tower's total height will be 1,800 feet.

More than 1,500 men worked on the building. Six of them were killed during construction.

Eventually, the building will house about 7,000 Sears employes plus 8,000 employes of firms renting space.

Those of us who drive today are survivors, says Ohio Highway Safety Director Pete O'Grady. Every day thousands of other drivers who take to our highways aren't so lucky. Take careful driving with you wherever you go.

Ohio Perspective

Thought father of deed for solon

By DEAN SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When 6-foot-3, 260-pound Ronald M. Mottl stands up to bat in the Ohio Legislature, he swings for the home run.

The crew-cut Parma senator leads his league — the Senate — in introducing bills and resolutions in the 110th General Assembly.

"Introducing all these bills makes me have a low batting average," he said. "But I would rather be a long-ball hitter, than a hitter for average."

Among his 21 proposals are bans on common law marriages, oil drilling in Lake Erie and lie detector tests for job applicants. He also has offered measures to create a limited no-fault auto insurance plan, a one-chamber legislature and a Cleveland State University medical school.

His home run for this legislative session is a proposal to implement a state-operated lottery. He struck out twice on the measure during the previous session.

Both the House and Senate have supported his idea and have agreed to submit it to a vote in tomorrow's statewide primary.

Mottl, a 38-year-old attorney, takes pride in his legislative efforts. "My bills are not administration bills," he said. "They're all mine.

"These are my babies," he said, pointing a finger to his large chest.

During his three terms as a state senator from a hard hat district, he has developed a philosophy: "If I wanted to take it easy, I wouldn't prepare all these bills. I have this attitude — When you get an idea, throw it in the hopper."

When an idea for a new bill comes into his head, Mottl said he gives a "blueprint" to the Legislative Service Commission, the research arm of the legislature.

"They draw up the bill for me, and it has to be to my satisfaction," he said.

"If you look at most of my bills, 99 per cent are substantive measures that are in the best interest of the people of Ohio," he said.

But an example of the one per cent is a resolution during the last legislative session that called for resumption of the Ohio State-Notre Dame football series. The measure died.

Mottl, an Irish alumnus, said Notre Dame came from behind to defeat the Buckeyes, 18-13, in their last game in 1935. He called it the "greatest game of the century," adding the rivalry is worth renewing.

Be on lookout for children, Auto Club says

Although the Ohio weatherman hasn't been his usual cooperative self this spring, the calendar points to warm weather soon.

That means motorists once again must be especially alert for children in the streets, according to Mrs. Fred Shoop, secretary - manager of the Fayette County Automobile Club.

"Youngsters going to and from school or just having a good time playing often have many things on their minds other than thoughts of traffic," the AAA official noted. Mrs. Shoop added that school will soon be out for the summer and many more youngsters will be on the streets, in the parks and playgrounds.

Unfortunately, too many drivers have a tendency to expect children to follow pedestrian safety patterns like little adults; yet in many cases youngsters appear to have little fear of dangers and naturally lack adult maturity and experience, according to a study cited by AAA.

The greatest danger is in residential areas where automobiles are parked, the club spokesman indicated, noting that drivers must be especially watchful for children darting in and out between cars.

AAA feels parents and drivers must share the responsibility for children safety. Parents are urged to remind their children of rules for crossing streets safely, to obey traffic signals and to set good examples themselves. The ensuing warm weather won't be spoiled by accidents if everyone follows good safety practices, Mrs. Shoop emphasized.

Seek Lucas jail escapee

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A Lucas County jail trustee, 22-year-old Renaldo Gonzales, walked away from the jail Sunday. He was the second prisoner to escape from the facility in less than 10 days.

Sheriff William Calanan said Gonzales escaped during the early morning hours through an unlocked delivery door in the jail kitchen.

The man was being held on charges of driving without a license and profanity.

Last Monday, 18-year-old John Wiley was accidentally released when a deputy overlooked a grand jury order sentencing Wiley to a state reformatory. He was being held on two convictions of armed robbery and assault with a deadly weapon.

Calanan said he contacted the U.S. Bureau of Prisons in February concerning the jail's security problem. Representatives of the bureau are expected in Toledo Tuesday, according to the sheriff.

Right to Life Rally is held

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Anti-abortionists jammed downtown Fountain Square Sunday for a Right to Life rally and to hear pleas for an overturning of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling legalizing abortions.

There were some estimates that the crowd was 5,000.

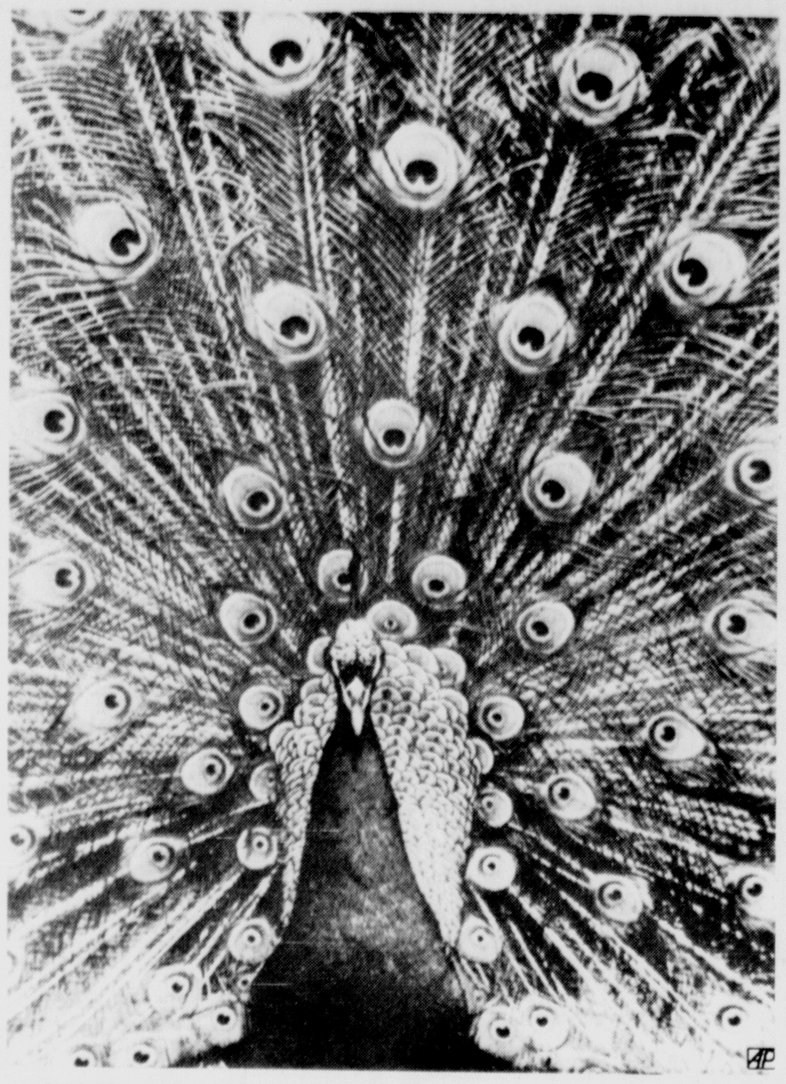
Dr. Jack Wilke, a physician and co-chairman of the Cincinnati Right to Life group, said bills to legalize euthenasia are pending in several state legislatures and he added:

"These people are using the term 'meaningful existence' to justify killing people—just like the abortion advocates are."

He declared that 99 per cent of the abortions in the nation this year were for "social reasons, not medical ones."

Another speaker, Michael Uhlmann, legislative aide to U.S. Sen. James Buckley (R-NY), said:

"If the Supreme Court can decide who is a person in the whole sense, that decision can easily be extended to the senile, the handicapped and anyone else who is not a person in the whole sense."



BEAUTEOUS PEACOCK — Sharp contrasts of black and white engrave with fine lines of the beauty and complexity of a peacock's train at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Pair convicted of bank heist

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two men were convicted Friday of conspiracy and grand larceny in connection with an Orange County bank robbery last year which netted the men more than $5 million in cash, securities and other valuables found in safe deposit boxes.

A U.S. District Court jury deliberated for two days before returning the verdict against James F. Densio, 40 of Youngstown, Ohio, and Ronald Barber, 30, of South Gate, Calif. The pair was acquitted of actually entering the bank.

Three other men, including Densio's brother, already have been convicted in the case. Sentenced to 20 years in federal prison were Amil Densio, 36, Charles Muliigan, 38, and Phillip B. Christoper, 31, all of the Youngstown area.

Largest banks boost interest

NEW YORK (AP) — Many of the nation's largest banks have raised their prime interest rate from 6¾ to 7 per cent as part of a gradual process to bring it in line with open market interest rates.

The increase brings the prime, the minimum interest paid by corporate customers on short term loans, to its highest level in 2½ years and follows on the heels of another quarter per cent boost.

Theft, burglary cases under investigation

Two 13-year-old Wilmington youths were arrested by sheriff's deputies on petty larceny charges at Roller Haven, CCC Highway-W Saturday night.

Officers said the pair allegedly had removed $19 from the billfold of Leonard W. Theener, Rt. 3, Sabina. Theener told officers he had lost the billfold from his pocket while at the skating rink and immediately searched the area but could not find it.

The empty billfold was discovered at the rear of the rink by sheriff's deputies and the two youths were later apprehended following an investigation.

They were released to the custody of their parents.

Horse equipment valued at $470 was stolen from a barn on the R. W. Beckman farm, CCC Highway-E, during the past week. Beckman told officers an electric groom, two blankets and two halters, one inlaid with silver, were missing. The theft took place between April 27 and 30.

A 16-YEAR-OLD Fayette County girl was treated at Memorial Hospital for an overdose of drugs Sunday evening. The girl apparently had became despondant and swallowed 18 sinus pills, sheriff's deputies said.

She was released after treatment.

City police investigated the theft of two bicycles, one from the Virgil Copas home, 1017 Center St., and the other from the Mary Ingrim residence, 1118 E. Temple St. Both bicycles were girls' models.

Richanna Holford, of 920 Forest St., reported that five stereo tapes had been removed from her home Saturday evening by an intruder. She said she saw the man leaving as she arrived at the residence. Loss was set at $30.

National Hospital Week being observed in WCH

Fayette County Memorial Hospital will join the nation's more than 7,000 hospitals in a National Hospital Week celebration to honor the 3 million persons employed in health care institutions.

National Hospital Week, which is sponsored annually by the American Hospital Association, is being observed May 6-12. The national theme for the week is, "Your Hospital - a caring community, your health, our common concern".

Robert L. Kunz, Memorial Hospital administrator, said: "We believe this theme describes our institution. With increasing public concern about the quality, availability and cost of health care, the employes of Fayette County Memorial Hospital are a community of caring people, who are concerned about bringing better health care to more people as efficiently as possible."

During the past year, from April, 1972, to April, 1973, Memorial Hospital has cared for .63 per cent less inpatients; however, there have been 119 more emergency room visits, 848 more laboratory tests, 274 more x-ray examinations, 259 more physical therapy treatments, and 991 more inhalation therapy treatments in the past 12 months. "We can speak with pride of our new coronary care unit, the expanded respiratory therapy department, the School of Practical Nursing and our newest effort, the Explorer Post which instructs high school boys and girls in the allied medical fields," Kunz said.

Special events planned for National Hospital Week are:

On Wednesday a free picnic lunch will be served to all employes; on Friday, to celebrate Health Career Day, students from both high schools will tour the hospital, guided by Mrs. Carl Whitaker, in-service director.

"Also, we hope that residents of Fayette County will observe our downtown display at Soldan's, prepared by the Practical Nursing Students, under the direction of Mrs. Jean Coe and Mrs. Ruth Carwile," Kunz added.

Kunz stated that the goal of National Hospital Week is to focus attention on how the people who work in the nation's hospitals are meeting the changing and challenging health care needs of the American people.

Approval of Ohio lottery could hurt Michigan sales

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Ohioans approve a state lottery on the ballot in Tuesday's election, Michigan may experience a sharp cutback in its state lottery ticket sales.

Michigan officials believe that a large portion of the approximately 150,000 out-of-state tickets sold each week in the Michigan lottery are purchased by Ohioans.

Proponents of the lottery issue in Ohio predict that a lottery could generate up to $25 million in the state's general revenue fund. However, opponents of the lottery claim it would attract the interest of organized vice operators.

Establishing an Ohio lottery is one of the main issues on Tuesday's ballot and a bill to begin the lottery is awaiting approval in the General Assembly should it be approved.

Many Ohioans have won in the Michigan lottery—billed as one of the nation's richest—and it cannot be accurately predicted how many—if any— Ohioans will stop purchasing tickets in the border state games.

Michigan lottery officials said 3,067 Ohioans won $25 each and qualified for the April 26 millionaire's elimination drawing, and Ohioans bought 750,000 of the 50-cent tickets in the five weeks preceding that drawing.

Many of the Ohioans drive to Michigan to buy tickets, but more buy them from bootleg operators in Ohio who often up the price to as much as $1.

Under current Ohio law, selling or buying lottery tickets within the state carries a maximum penalty of $500 or six months in jail.

Toledo, Ohio, officials, however, said they know of no arrests made for re-selling Michigan lottery tickets in Ohio.

"With voters having the opportunity to decide on a lottery in their own state," a spokesman for the Ohio attorney general's office said, "I don't think there's any pressing need to put the heat on."

Mowing operations start

The smell of fresh mown grass will be in the air this week as city, state and county road crews begin mowing projects.

Gene Fitzpatric, Fayette superintendent of the Ohio Department of Highways here, said six mowers will be in operation. The state crews will mow along guard rails on U.S. 62, Ohio 753, 729 and 734. The guard rails along those routes are to be painted by a contract crew.

State crews also will be taking down snow fence, repairing a section of Ohio 729 where a culvert was installed, picking up litter and working on berms throughout the county.

County workers, according to County Engineer Charles P. Wagner, will be mowing weeds, patching pavement, working on culverts, and ditching in Wayne Township and along the Anderson Road.

Bill Duncan, acting superintendent of the city service department, said his crews will be spraying for mosquitoes, mowing and cleaning catch basins and main sewer lines.

Criminality meeting held

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Psychiatrists, judges, lawyers and state officials have been conducting a series of seminars aimed at improving the handling of Ohio's criminal offenders who have mental disorders.

Eighty persons attended the second meeting this past weekend at Hueston Woods State Park and plan to hold another later this month at Burr Oak State Lodge.

Three more seminars are scheduled for the coming months. The conferences are being sponsored by the Ohio Division of Forensic Psychiatry.

A spokesman for the division said the representatives have been attempting to modernize the state's 34-year-old Ascherman Act.

He said the act allows the state to commit criminal offenders with mental problems to hospitals rather than prisons.

The spokesman said officials want better evaluations of criminal offenders to determine if they should be committed to hospitals or prisons.

OEA unification with NEA voted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Members of the Ohio Education Association have voted 23,244 to 21,355 for unification of the OEA with the National Education Association, OEA President Leonard Arcilesi announced Saturday.

He said 56 per cent of the membership cast ballots.

The vote means all members of the state organization must also become members of the NEA beginning September 1, 1974. Had the state group failed to unify with the NEA, Arcilesi said, the Ohio group would have faced disaffiliation.

The OEA leader called on "all teachers in Ohio, even if they disagreed with the majority, to support the democratic decision made by their colleagues across the state."

Nelson salvages win in series with Expos

MONTREAL (AP) — Cincinnati pitcher Roger Nelson worked the stiffness out of his ailing elbow Sunday, but the Montreal Expos felt the pain.

Nelson, acquired from Kansas City in a winter trade, went to the mound for the first time in 18 days and left with a 6-1 win. He lost a bid for his first National League shutout in the ninth inning.

It was the Reds' first win in the three-game series with the Expos.

"Now maybe we'll get going," said Nelson, now 2-1.

Nelson nursed a 1-0 lead for the first five innings after Dave Concepcion singled, stole second and third and scored on Johnny Bench's sacrifice fly in the first inning.

The Reds erupted for three runs in the sixth and solo home runs later by Bench and Concepcion padded the lead.

Montreal averted the shutout when Ron Woods doubled in the ninth, advanced on John Bocabell's single and scored on a fielder's choice.

The Reds missed a chance at a double play when Darrell Chaney lost the throw against a backdrop of fans. It would have ended the inning without scoring, but Nelson wasn't concerned.

The 28-year-old righthander was encouraged with his routegoing performance that could get him back into rotation.

"My arm started coming around in the fourth," he said. "I hope things will be alright the rest of the year."

Concepcion stole three bases during the game, giving him six for the season.

He ignited the Reds' three-run sixth inning by singling, stealing second and scoring on Bobby Tolan's single. Tony Perez doubled and Richie Scheinblum drove in two runs with a double.

Balor Moore took the loss.

The Reds face Philadelphia tonight. Ross Grismley, 4-1, is expected to face either Ken Brett or Wayne Twitchell.

Shepards, Terrells top Husband-Wife pin meet

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Shepard emerged with honors in the scratch division of the annual Husband-Wife bowling tournament which was held Sunday afternoon at Bowland Lanes.

Shepard rolled a fine 635 actual score and his wife, Pat, turned in a 436 for a 1071 series to top the field in the annual tourney which attracted a total of 12 couples.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Terrell were the winners in the tourney's handicap division with a 1206 total. The Terrells had a 1066 actual series with a 140-pin handicap.

In the scratch division, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yoakum finished second with a 1030 score and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Greene placed second in the handicap section. The Greenes had a 1005 actual score with a 150-pin handicap for a 1155-pin total.

Tony Capuana, proprietor at Bowland Lanes, said bowlers and teams are still needed for the three-man men's Tuesday Night summer league at Bowland. Interested bowlers or teams are urged to contact Bowland Lanes for further details.

The summer leagues will open next week, Capuana said.

WCH's Storm sets two records in rhubarb-filled track scrap

Washington C. H. speedster Brian Storm shattered two records Saturday in the annual Hillsboro Invitational track meet which was filled with controversy.

Storm, a senior member of head coach John Armstrong's Washington C. H. team, erased the 100 and 220-yard dash records he established in the same meet last spring.

He turned in a fine 10.0 clocking in the 100-yard dash and a 23.0 in 220 to guide the Blue Lion spikers to a third place finish in the nine-team field.

It's certain that Washington C. H. finished third, but the first place team is undecided today because of a rhubarb-filled disqualification in the final event of the meet.

ACTUALLY, Ironton had 68 points which topped Hillsboro by a mere point and a half, but Ironton's total did not count a disqualification called by Hillsboro's coach, who acted as an official on the last leg of the mile relay.

Hillsboro's coach called a foul on Ironton and following a heated argument, the Ironton mentor rushed to the press box, grabbed the first place trophy and departed, leaving all the other individual medals the team had won.

Little Miami was fourth with 33½ points followed by Waverly (25) and Cincinnati Country Day (12). Greenfield, Georgetown and Mason did not score.

Junior Chuck Wilson leaped 21 feet in the long jump, but fouled and was forced to settle for a 20 feet, 7½-inch jump which was good enough for first place. Bob Osborne won the 440-yard dash and Gene Lyon was second in the 880. Washington C. H.'s 880-yard and mile relay teams turned in third place performances and junior Dan McDaniels was fifth in the long jump.

Washington C. H., which increased its season record to 31-11-1, is scheduled to entertain Chillicothe Tuesday before embarking on the Class AA sectional preliminaries Thursday at Whitehall.

Secretariat earns respect

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Secretariat, his image shining brighter than ever, now takes on the task of trying to win the Triple Crown and his opposition might not be too great—at least in numbers.

"He ran pretty good for a crippled horse," jockey Ron Turcotte said Sunday after Secretariat wiped out rumors that he had a knee problem with an overwhelming victory in the Kentucky Derby.

"You know something he might have run that in 1:56 if he was all right," Turcotte chided.

With his stature damaged by an upset loss in the Wood Memorial April 21 and rumors sweeping Churchill Downs Saturday that Secretariat had hurt himself and might even be scratched, Secretariat responded by beating Sham by 2½ lengths in a record time of 1:59 2-5 for the 1¼-mile Derby.

"There won't be many trying him in the Preakness," said trainer Lou Goldfine, adding that he was taking Shecky Greene, who finished sixth, and My Gallant, who finished ninth, back to Chicago.

"I'm going to weigh things over," said trainer Bill Resseguet, whose Our Native finished third, 10½ lengths back of the flying winner.

One of those expected to test Secretariat in the Preakness, the second Triple Crown race at Pimlico May 19, was Sham.

Two of Sham's teeth were loosened when he bumped his head in the starting gate and they were removed after the race. However, trainer Frank "Pancho" Martin said Sham ran a fine race and there were no excuses.

Martin also will send two other colts to Pimlico—Knightly Dawn, who won an allowance race on Derby program, and the lightly raced Beautiful Music.

Others being mentioned for the 1 3-16-mile Preakness were Aljamin; Stop the Music; Impecunious, who missed the Derby because of a heel injury, and Step Nicely, a stakes winner as a 2-year-old. None raced in the Derby.

Secretariat was scheduled to go to Baltimore today while Angle Light, his stablemate, was to be sent back to New York. Angle Light finished 10th in the Derby.

Knicks top L.A. Lakers

NEW YORK (AP) — Willis Reed and Earl Monroe are happy—and Jerry West is hurting.

With Reed playing "my most important game," Monroe proving he's king of the playgrounds and West not having a healthy leg to stand on in the fourth quarter, the New York Knicks beat Los Angeles 87-83 Sunday afternoon to take a 2-1 lead over the Lakers in their National Basketball Association championship series.

"I don't know if it was my best game since the injury back in 1970, but it certainly was my most important one," said Reed, New York's solid man in the middle who scored 22 points and grabbed 10 rebounds against Los Angeles' Wilt Chamberlain.

"Sure I'm happy," he said, smiling. "This was a good one to win, because it keeps us in the driver's seat. Now there are just two games to go."

The Madison Square Garden crowd of 19,694—including the touring Russian basketball squad—and a national television audience saw a rather sloppy game in which the Knicks were outscored 15-2 in seven minutes of the second period, came back to trail just 47-44 at the half, moved in front with seven unanswered points in the third period and stayed one stride ahead of the defending champion Lakers throughout the fourth quarter.

"It was a strange game," said West, the Lakers' superstar who sat out the entire fourth quarter with pulled hamstring muscles in both his legs. "There was no pattern to it, no flow.

Cobb shatters old Panther track mark

Miami Trace's track team finished sixth in an eight-team field at the rugged Franklin Heights Invitational meet held Saturday.

Several fine performances were turned in by members of head coach Chuck Wallace's Panther track team and senior Gardner Cobb established a new school record.

Cobb shattered a long-standing record held by Ed Summers in the 440-yard dash as he turned in a 52.7 performance to win the event. A 53.1 clocking was set by Summers in 1967.

COLUMBUS WEST won the meet with 182½ points and 11 firsts, followed by Westland with 63 points and a pair of firsts. Columbus Mohawk was third, Hilliard fourth, followed by Miami Trace, Bishop Ready and Columbus Central.

Senior Dan Coe was second in the pole vault with a leap of 10 feet, six inches and Miami Trace's mile relay team, despite dropping the baton, finished third in 3:47.6.

Dave Stenhauser was fifth in the high jump, Ron Warnock fifth in shot put and fourth in the discus, Ron Bays sixth in the mile run, the 880-yard relay team was sixth and Ernie Perry was fifth in the two mile.

Cobb set a personal high with 11½ points. He also placed sixth in the discus.

The Panthers will entertain Wilmington, Greenfield McClain and Clinton Massie Tuesday.

MT booster call

The regular meeting of the Miami Trace Boosters Club will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the high school.

Max Schlichter, president of the backing organization, said all members are urged to attend the meeting.

Pearson wins wreck-filled Winston 500 auto contest

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — David Pearson, Joe Frasson and Ramo Stott were among the lucky ones in Sunday's Winston 500-mile stock car race that wound up as a $1 million junkyard.

Pearson, 38, kept his cool and won the race—his fifth straight on the Grand National circuit and his fourth at 500 miles this year. He also will bank $26,095 to go with the $61,735 he already had won.

Stott, a 37-year-old veteran from Keokuk, Iowa, wrecked his Mercury on the 10th lap around the 2.66-mile Alabama International Speedway, and watched horrified as 18 other cars barrelled into each other in the worst pile up in National Association of Stock Car Automobile Racing history.

"I already had unbuckled my seat harness," Stott said later, "And had started to get out of the wrecked car. But then I saw it coming—cars spinning all over the place, ramming into each other, spewing tires, wheels, engines and parts everywhere. I decided to stay in the car."

Stott, who finished second in a race at Talladega last August and who currently leads the stock car standings in the rival United States Auto Club, said the engine cracked in his car. The other drivers said it was oil from Stott's car that triggered the chain-reaction crash that followed.

Buddy Baker, Cale Yarborough, Bobby Allison and Frasson, who were running in first through fourth places, rammed into the mess at more than 190 miles an hour— directly in front of many of the estimated 77,000 persons who watched.

Before it was over, 15 cars had been eliminated, some so bent and broken that they were unrecognizable.

Frasson, Wendell Scott, Earl Brooks and Slick Gardner were treated for injuries.

U.S. again defeats Soviet cagers, 83-75

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Ernie "D" turned the tide and won the hearts in an 83-75 victory by the U.S. national basketball team over the Russian national team.

Six-foot-one Ernie DiGregorio of Providence personally pulled the Americans together after a slow start Saturday night and led them to their third victory in four games with the Russians on their American tour.

World shot put record shattered

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Al Feuerbach, the new shot put world record holder, recognized the possibility of complacency after his toss of 71 feet, 7 inches at the San Jose Invitational track meet.

"I could probably become satisfied. But that would be against the philosophy I've had for the last 11 years," the 25-year-old U. S. Olympian said after his Saturday feat.

Muskie urges whole truth on Watergate

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972, says political parties "should not be held to blame for the people who represent them."

Sen. Muskie made the statement in connection with the Watergate case. He said the most serious consequence of the Watergate affair is that the public's confidence has been shaken in the political process.

The Maine senator was here to speak at a State of Israel Bonds dinner.

He said he would have to take President Nixon's word on the Watergate case but he added the President "did not tell us anything we did not know" in his recent television address to the nation on Watergate.

"I think the whole truth must come out," said Muskie in an interview. "I think it all must be told and there must be a thorough cleansing of the matter."

Speaking of reports of political sabotage of his own primary campaign, Muskie said "there is ample evidence now that things that looked like sabotage were sabotage."

About 50 persons picketed the downtown hotel where Muskie spoke at the Israeli bond dinner. They were identified as members of The Coalition for The Support of The Palestinian People. There was no violence.

In his banquet speech Muskie said: "We must... maintain our pledge to the military security of Israel. Arms sales and credits to finance them are essential to that pledge but, more broadly, we must gear our diplomatic efforts in the Middle East to the stopping of the arms race and negotiating a permanent peace."

Fear construction strike on Monday

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Some 300 bricklayers, masons and plasterers in Lake and Geauga counties plan to strike at midnight Monday unless agreement is reached on a new contract with the Mason Contract Association.

Robert C. McMasters, business representative for Local 16 of the union, said the two sides would meet Monday morning with federal mediator John E. Mesereau in an attempt to resolve their differences.

The union turned down a 39-cent hourly raise in the first year of a three-year pact, said McMasters, because it was tied to proposals for new starting times and reduction of overtime pay from double time to time and one-half.

Bricklayers earn $10.31 an hour, including fringe benefits.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Robbed At Work

Hired as floor manager in a department store, Phyllis asked where she should leave her new fur coat during working hours. Since there were no more lockers available, she was told to leave the coat in a corridor closet.

A few days later, the coat was stolen from the closet. The store denied any responsibility for the loss, but Phyllis — unconvinced — took the matter to court.

At the hearing, the company said it had never guaranteed its employes against theft. But it seems the closet had neither lock nor guard. Finding a lack of reasonable care, the court said the company would have to make good the loss.

IT IS common for employes to deposit clothing and other personal belongings in company facilities while at work.

As a rule, the company must provide reasonable safekeeping if — as in Phyllis' case — the employe has been instructed to put the article in a particular place. This creates a "bailment" relationship, with a legal duty imposed on the company as the "bailee."

But the duty is not unlimited. In another case, also involving a stolen coat, the clothes closet was within a locked enclosure to which only employees had access. A court rules that the company had made a reasonable effort to prevent theft, hence could not be held liable.

Of course, some responsibility rests upon the employee, as well. A toolmaker who owned his own tools often left them overnight on his work bench. Right above the bench was a broken skylight. One night a thief climbed in through the skylight and decamped with the tools.

Could the company be blamed for the loss because of the broken skylight? A court said no, because the toolmaker himself was aware of the danger. By leaving his tools in such an accessible place, said the judge, he had "assumed the risk" of their being stolen.

Nixon medical records copied?

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A former personal physician of President Nixon's says Nixon's medical records were taken from a safe in his office and "obviously scrutinized" during the 1972 presidential campaign, the Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram reports.

In a copyright story in today's editions, the newspaper quotes Dr. John Lungren as saying his office was burglarized twice last September and on one occasion the Nixon records were taken from a safe and scattered on the office floor.

Lungren, a heart specialist and internist, said he last examined Nixon in 1969 and is now a medical consultant to the President.

During hibernation, the black bear's temperature and heartbeat remain substantially normal.

Plush plane draws Proxmire ire

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — An Air Force spokesman at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base said Gen. Jack Catton may have a comment today on reports that he ordered the $430,000 remodeling of a C135 into a luxury aircraft.

Catton is in command of the Air Force logistics command headquartered at Wright-Patterson. The report of his remodeling the aircraft was released in Washington Sunday by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

Col. Kirby Bernich, a logistics command information officer, Sunday night said, "we might have a comment on it" today "when we have a chance to look at the General Accounting Office figures."

Bernich said "I'm sure the general would not be in any mood to comment now—he is quite busy."

Catton was having dinner with Secretary of the Air Force Robert C. Samans Sunday night. Bernich said the meeting had nothing to do with the remodeling of the plane but was a "standard command briefing."

Proxmire said he has confirmed that the plane has been given a new exterior skin and a paint job and that interior redesign plans include a refrigerator, self-cleaning range, large tables, soundproofing, reupholstering of chairs and blue carpeting.

The senator said he is asking the General Accounting Office to check on "information made available to me" that other modifications include new engines, three bathrooms, a new kitchen, a trash compactor, stereo system, 14-foot freezer and a bar.

"In a time of tight budgets," Proxmire said in a statement, "it is outrageous that hundreds of thousands of dollars should be spent on an Air Force luxury liner for the brass. It's time that the high flyers be brought back to earth."

By the time the remodeling is complete sometime this month there will have been 27,000 man-hours of labor spent, according to Proxmire. The work began in January at Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma.

The Irish Republic was formally established on Jan. 21, 1919. On that date the First Assembly of Dail Eireann ratified the proclamation of the Irish Republic made on Easter Monday 1916 by the Republican Army acting on behalf of the Irish people and claimed international recognition for the independence of Ireland.

Early learning gets boost from teacher

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Pleasant Rowland is like her name — smiling, attractive and charming. But her intensely blue eyes gleam most when she discusses a favorite topic — children and learning.

For five years, Pleasant taught kindergarten. The more places she taught, the more she felt she was juggling too many different things to be an effective teacher.

So she developed a multisensory reading program called "Beginning to Read, Write and Listen," as an answer to her frustration over the task of organizing a kindergarten curriculum.

"New television programs like "Sesame Street" help children prepare for school. They're ready to learn more based on knowledge they've acquired from television. They have lots of curiosity and an immense desire to learn to read," Pleasant said.

THE PROGRAM she developed is strong on phonic reading, tying in auditory skills and art.

"They're all things any good teacher could do, given lots of time and good intentions. I thought, too, that the alphabet was lost in curriculum limbo. Kindergarten teachers assumed it would be taught in first grade and first grade teachers were certain children learned it in kindergarten. So lots of kids were trying to learn to read without any foundation."

To give children an alphabet awareness, Pleasant devised 24 alphabet books that have letters you can feel, glittery to the touch; bright colored workbooks with pop-outs and cut-outs, a paper slate that is color-cued to help children form and position letters. There is also a cassette tape with sound effects for each letter, music selections and phonic dictations.

"Each book builds on the one before. Each reviews skills taught in preceding books. The child can assign one sound to each letter, and learns to blend the sounds together to form words," she added.

"Writing in those simple terms, not using a sound or letter that hadn't been learned already, was the most difficult part.

"But the results are immediate. The child is learning to read words, sentences and stories. There are handwriting exercises, coloring, pasting and folding. The child learns by doing," the young teacher said.

ALONG with working to make colors for the books bright and true, Pleasant developed a "sniffie," a picture to be scratched and sniffed. It smells of strawberries, pickles or oranges.

She says the best part of the workbook is that it can be taken home to share with parents, giving them an opportunity to help children learn.

"I've tried to do what any teacher would if she was able to do what she wanted. Teachers are good, but they don't have enough time," Pleasant said.

A Chicago native, Pleasant attended Wells College and taught in four states. She worked as a television reporter in San Francisco, which, she says, gave her an added appreciation of visual communication.

"I learned, too, that it shouldn't be so horrible if a child makes a mistake. Things can be erased, done over. It makes life easier if everything doesn't have to be perfect," she said.

They'll Do It Every Time

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Ecchymoses Are Not Dangerous

The slightest bruise to my legs or arms shows up with black and blue marks that I am constantly having to explain.

Besides being embarrassed, I wonder if there is something wrong with my blood vessels.

I am 20 years old, and otherwise in perfect health.

Miss A.A.Y., Del.

Dear Miss Y.:

The black-and-blue marks are known as "ecchymoses." They are the result of a break in a tiny blood vessel.

The blood oozes out into the tissue beneath the skin and is particularly apparent in fair-haired people with light, translucent skin.

Some people have blood vessels that are especially vulnerable. The walls of the blood vessels break easily and the slightest pressure or injury is responsible.

For others, the tendency to bleed as you do may accompany the prolonged use of drugs that contain aspirin. Other drugs, too, may be responsible for a bleeding tendency.

Sometimes there is a deficiency of one of the blood components, the "platelets," which play an important role in the clotting mechanism. A complete blood study can show the possible presence of this or other bleeding tendencies, and suggest specific treatment.

In most instances, conditions such as your have no great medical significance and should not cause great concern.

Have you ever heard the term "intestinal stroke" used to describe a sudden attack of bowel obstruction?

My brother, who was in perfect health, developed this condition and needed an emergency operation.

Mrs. S. V., Colo.

Dear Mrs. V.:

Very recently, the term "intestinal stroke" came to my attention for the very first time in an excellent article in a physicians' journal.

Dr. R. C. Harrison, of the University of British Columbia, described this condition.

Just as blood vessels that flow to the brain or to the heart may be closed by arteriosclerosis, so can blood vessels that go to different parts of the intestines.

Blood vessels can be blocked or broken, and therefore interfere with the normal flow of oxygen-containing blood.

Dr. Harrison uses the term "intestinal stroke." This has great validity and should have more and more importance in the diagnosis of difficult intestinal problems.

Is leprosy a veneral disease?

R. J., Ky.

Dear R.:

Leprosy is not a venereal disease. It is in no way related to gonorrhea or syphilis.

Leprosy, now often called "Hansen's Disease," is an infectious disease caused by a special bacillus, or germ, closely related to the one that causes tuberculosis.

There are a number of different forms of leprosy. The condition exists mostly in tropical and sub-tropical areas. It is comparatively rare in the United States or in northern climates.

Vaccination against leprosy is being studied. A number of drugs are being used with promising results for those people who are planning to live in tropical climates. Intensive treatment with various drugs is now effective in many cases of leprosy.

Pass	3 ♦	Pass	4 ♠

Opening lead - eight of clubs.

Some contracts fail solely because the wrong hand becomes declarer, but at least some of them can be saved by anticipating this possibility and dealing effectively with it.

Consider this deal from the Great Britain-U.S. match in 1962. When the Americans were North-South, the bidding went as shown.

It does seem that North should have been more aggressive after South first jump-shifted in spades and then leaped again in spades. Presumably South was announcing an independent suit as well as interest in a slam, and on that basis North surely had the values for at least one more bid. His was not a minimum opening bid.

However, had North carried on to six spades, South would have gone down one due to the unfortunate lie of the clubs.

The odds against East's having the A-Q were about 3 to 1, and if South had wound up in six spades down one, he would have had just cause for complaint. Actually, the American South made five spades and scored 650 points.

When Priday and Truscott were North-South for Britain, the bidding went:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♦	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	4 NT	Pass	5 ♦
Pass	6 NT

This contract could not be stopped when Priday, after inquiring for aces with Blackwood, contracted for six notrump. Played from the North seat, the slam was unbeatable, and when East chose a spade as his opening lead, Priday made all 13 tricks for a score of 1,470 points.

The British team thus gained 820 points on the deal.

President signs bill for elderly

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon has signed a $551.6 million aid bill for older Americans.

The bill, which will fund programs for the period ending June 30, 1975, replaces a $2 billion measure vetoed by the President last year.

Nixon said the new legislation avoids "cruel over-promises implied by the levels in the earlier bill" while capitalizing on "the strengths of existing programs."

The bill authorizes transportation, nutrition and job programs for the elderly, establishes centers for senior citizens, and funds research into the problems of aging.

No candidates, only issues on Fayette ballots Tuesday

Polling places for Tuesday's election will be open from 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., according to Mrs. Mary Jane Jennings, Fayette County director of elections.

Since there are no candidates on the ballot in Fayette County, liquor permit holders will operate as usual, but state liquor stores will be closed all day, according to Richard Guggenheim, Ohio Liquor director.

The only items to be voted on in Fayette County are the seven state issues. They are:

ISSUE ONE

An amendment to the Ohio Constitution to permit the state to conduct lotteries. The proceeds are to become part of the state's general revenue. Operation of the lottery would be decided by a State Lottery Planning Commission under terms of a bill now pending in the Ohio House of Representatives.

ISSUE TWO

An amendment to the Ohio Constitution to allow public agencies to acquire private land for the purpose of constructing or maintaining sanitary sewers and water lines before payment is made for the land. The owner of the land would retain the right to ask the court to determine the amount of payment. Public agencies would be permitted to begin their projects before the case is settled in court.

ISSUE THREE

This question proposes the repeal of a section of the Constitution which disqualifies persons convicted of embezzling from holding public office.

ISSUE FOUR

This question is a proposed repeal of a section of the Constitution which provides for a Supreme Court Commission. The section became a part of the Constitution in 1883 to deal with a backlog of Supreme Court cases.

ISSUE FIVE

This proposed new judicial article for the constitution would allow the state legislature to adopt by concurrent resolution, amendments to the rules governing practice and procedure in all courts of the state, which rules have been established by the Supreme Court.

ISSUE FIVE-A

This proposed constitutional amendment would bring municipal and county judges under the same constitutional provision now governing compensation for judges of appeals and common pleas courts. It provides that judges of all courts established by law receive compensation as may be provided by law and that such compensation shall not be diminished during term.

ISSUE SIX

This proposed constitutional amendment is relative to the administration, organization and procedures of the General Assembly. It would require annual meetings of the legislature, and would permit the presiding officers of the two houses, acting jointly, to call special sessions. It would also allow each house to choose its officers, except as otherwise provided in the constitution, and adopt rules of procedure, as well as make changes in procedure for filling vacancies.

A light vote is expected here.

Fayette Boys' Choir returns from Virginia

The 19 members of the Fayette County Boys Choir are back home and in school today with memories of their educational trip to Charlottesville, Va., over the weekend never to be forgotten.

The choir left here at 7 a.m. Friday in a chartered bus, and 10 hours later was in historic Charlottesville. The group stayed in the Monticello Hotel and from there made trips to Monticello, Thomas Jefferson's home, the University of Virginia and many other points of historical interest.

The boys agreed that one of the educational highlights was their visit to the university's observatory, where they heard a lecture and saw films of some of the more important scientific developments of the outer space program.

Choir members were special guests of the First Presbyterian Church for the Sunday morning worship service and sang several sacred songs.

Since the customary birthday party the 17th for the choir — was held in the hotel dining room following the appearance at the church, the trip back home did not get started until after 3 p.m. Sunday and the bus did not arrive here until after midnight Monday.

The choir was accompanied by Mrs. Robert E. Willis, its founder and director; Garell Leasure, business manager, and Mrs. Joe Overly, Mrs. Ron Wagner and Mrs. Richard Wintringham, chaperones.

The choir will give its last concert of the season at the annual Parents Night at 8 p.m. Thursday in the First Presbyterian Church.

Soviet grain production still won't cover all needs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department today said the Soviet Union, which bought more than $1 billion worth of U.S. grain last year, appears to be headed for larger crop production on its own in 1973.

But the Soviets, officials added, are expected to continue buying relatively large amounts of grain from foreign suppliers.

Last year, when drought and other severe weather conditions reduced its harvest, the Soviet Union turned to the United States for more than 19 million tons of grain and soybeans, including some 440 million bushels (about 12 million tons) of wheat.

"Although the USSR at present is still expected to need sizable purchases of grain from the world market for ... 1973-74, there appears in recent weeks to have been an improvement in Soviet grain prospects for 1973," the Foreign Agricultural Service said.

Last month the agency said it appeared the Soviets might be in the market this year for as much as 14 million tons of grain from all foreign sources, about half the amount Moscow purchased on the world market in 1972.

Today's report in the weekly magazine "Foreign Agriculture" repeated the earlier analysis despite the more recent upturn in Russian crop prospects.

"It is still early to be making firm forecasts of the 1973 crop, especially since the spring grain crop is not yet all planted," the report said.

The Soviet government, the report said, has set a grain production goal this year of 197.4 million tons, which officials here termed "ambitious" since that would be 18 per cent more than the 1972 Soviet harvest of 168 million tons and six per cent above the record of 186.8 million set in 1970.

New typhoid strain noted

CHICAGO (AP) — A strain of typhoid fever that is resistant to commonly used drugs is being brought to the United States by travelers returning from Mexico, say three California researchers.

The type of typhoid currently is epidemic in northern and central Mexico, the researchers reported in the May 7 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

2 measures before Council

Two pieces of legislation, one proposing an increase in the salary of new members of City Council, and another confirming an appointment to the city Zoning Board of Appeals, are on the agenda for the Wednesday night meeting of City Council.

The session will begin at 7 o'clock in the city offices.

The pay increase proposal would boost the salary of the four Council members to be elected in November to $100 per month. Council members are now paid $360 per year. The proposal would also increase the Council chairman's pay from $720 a year to $1,800.

The Zoning Board appointment will be to fill the vacancy left by Glenn Tatman who is now the city building inspector.

Plane crash injures 4

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — Four Troy residents escaped serious injury Sunday when their Beech Bonanza plane went 150 feet past a breakwall on Rattlesnake Island and plunged into Lake Erie.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said the plane was attempting a takeoff when its landing gear struck the breakwall at the end of the island. The patrol said the plane went 150 feet past the wall and sank into 15 feet of water. The four were rescued by the U.S. Coast Guard.

They were identified as Joel Leavelle, 55, and his wife, Mary, 46, and their friends, Russell Stubbs, 37, and his wife, Shirley, 36.

The patrol said Leavelle was the pilot. His wife, the only person hospitalized, was in good condition this morning, at a local hospital.

Rattlesnake Island is near Put-In-Bay.

Ohioans to vote on 6 amendments to Constitution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When voters go to the polls Tuesday they will make decisions on a state lottery and five other state constitutional amendment proposals.

Voters in 61 counties, in addition, will decide hundreds of local issues. Among those issues are included 150 tax levies and 75 bond issues.

Candidates, however, will be scarce on the ballots. Primary elections are scheduled for later this year in Cincinnati, Cleveland, Akron and Toledo.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has predicted that less than a third of Ohio's 5.3 million eligible voters will go to the polls as a result of the short ballots.

Most voter interest appears to be in Issue No. 1, which calls for the establishment of a state lottery. Backers have estimated that such a lottery could increase the state's general revenue fund by as much as $25 million.

Opponents of the measure claim the lottery would attract the interest of organized vice operators.

There is a bill pending in the General Assembly to establish a lottery planning commission in the event that the issue is approved.

Other constitutional amendments on the ballot include:

—Issue 2: Allows governmental units to appropriate property for sewer and water lines prior to settlement of payment to property owner.

—Issue 3: Removes language from the constitution prohibiting embezzlers of public funds from holding public office unless the embezzled funds are repaid. The subject is now covered in state statutes.

—Issue 4: Deletes from the constitution authority for the governor to appoint an Ohio Supreme Court commission, which hasn't been used since 1833.

—Issue 5: Allows the General Assembly to change as well as accept or reject Ohio Supreme Court rules and procedures for all courts.

—Issue 5-A: Permits municipal court judges to receive in term pay increases. Pay raises for other judges were covered by an earlier amendment.

—Issue 6: Provides a number of changes in the General Assembly's procedures, including requiring annual sessions and allowing the legislature to call special sessions.

Full texts of the amendments will be posted in polling places. A condensed text will appear on ballots.

State liquor stores will be closed all day Tuesday. In addition, liquor permit holders in areas where candidates' names appear on the primary election ballot may sell only 3.2 per cent beer from 6 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.

Sales will be permitted as usual in areas where only issues appear on the ballot.

U.S. diplomat still not free; demands hiked

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — The kidnapers of U.S. Consul-General Terrance G. Leonhardy were reported making more demands today following the transfers to Cuba of 30 prisoners whose freedom had been demanded in exchange for the American diplomat.

"The situation has become extremely complicated. There are new demands," said Gov. Alberto Orozco Romero of Jalisco state Sunday. "We just have to wait now. It could be hours or days...."

He did not say what the demands were.

Shortly before, the governor received a note from Leonhardy saying he was being treated well and his kidnapers promised to release him "at the proper moment."

Leonhardy's wife, at home with the couple's two young daughters, received a telephone call from the kidnapers Sunday afternoon saying new instructions would be phoned later. The second call had not come by midnight.

Officials of the state and federal governments and of the U.S. Embassy in Mexico City waited with Mrs. Leonhardy. A special telephone line was installed at the house, apparently to keep the government in Mexico City in close touch.

Outside the house, nearly 100 newsmen, photographers, neighbors and onlookers waited through the night.

Thirty persons were released from jails in six Mexican states Sunday afternoon and flown to Havana in a Mexican air force plane, meeting the ransom demand of the guerrilla group that seized the 58-year-old consul-general Friday evening as he drove home alone.

Most of those released were young people accused of bombings, bank robberies, shootings and subversion. Some had been held since 1971 without trial.

Lindsay, Alioto both tour Russia

LENINGRAD (AP) — John V. Lindsay and Joseph Alioto traveled halfway around the world and ended up touring this Soviet city the same day. They came and went separately.

Mayors Lindsay of New York and Alioto of San Francisco toured Leningrad on Sunday in their current Soviet visits as guests of Vladimir Promyslov, the mayor of Moscow.

Tass news agency said the mayors, accompanied by their wives and a few aides, made their tours separately. Lindsay arrived in the Soviet Union last Thursday, one day ahead of Alioto.

Report Dean to claim Nixon knew of scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's two largest weekly news magazines say ousted White House Counsel John W. Dean III is prepared to testify that President Nixon personally congratulated him last September for covering up administration involvement in the Watergate incident.

Time and Newsweek gave slightly different accounts, but both said Nixon's purported remarks came in a meeting among the President, Dean and another top White House aide.

Newsweek quoted Dean as saying Nixon was in the Oval Office with Dean and White House chief of staff H.R. "Bob" Haldeman when the President said: "Good job, John. Bob told me what a great job you've been doing."

Time's version said Nixon, Dean and the President's domestic-affairs adviser, John D. Ehrlichman, were present and that Nixon said: "John here tells me you've been doing fine work."

Neither magazine, in announcing the stories would be forthcoming, identified its source.

However, one legal source who has been close to the Watergate case, said the "tidbits" Dean reportedly gave government investigators were used as bait in an effort to win the 34-year-old lawyer immunity from prosecution. Dean has told them he has other evidence, including White House documents, to substantiate his claims, the source said.

The documents presumably are the 43-page volume and eight supporting papers that Dean's lawyer described Friday in U.S. District Court here. Dean gave the keys to a safe deposit box to Chief Judge John J. Sirica, saying the box contains the classified documents taken from the White House to prevent their being destroyed.

The source said the government has refused to grant Dean immunity in exchange for his testimony.

Another observer said Dean, fired by Nixon a week ago, still may waive his right to the constitutional protection against self-incrimination even if he fails to win immunity.

"If he goes before the (Senate Watergate) committee and creates a tremendous sensation by implicating everybody in the White House on national television,' the lawyer said, "he'll be able to claim he could never get a fair trial because of all the pretrial publicity."

In other weekend developments in the Watergate scandal:

—Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., announced she will co-sponsor a resolution seeking a House inquiry on whether grounds exist for impeaching the President. Sen. James L. Buckley, R-Con.-N.Y., said it would be outrageous to start impeachment proceedsings in the absence of all the facts in the Watergate affair.

—Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said his wife's reported suggestion that Nixon resign "is ridiculous." The Committee for the Re-election of the President issued a statement by Mitchell saying United Press International, which carried the suggestion in a story, took advantage of a personal telephone call from Mrs. Mitchell to a UPI reporter.

FOUR INJURED — Four persons were sent to Memorial Hospital following this two-car headon collision on CCC Highway-E, just north of West Road Sunday afternoon. Sheriff's deputies said the driver of the black car, Michael Taylor, 22, of 816 Washington Ave., apparently fell asleep at the wheel and drifted left of center into the path of the station wagon, towing the camper. Traffic was backed up on the busy highway for more than an hour before the wreckage was cleared.

Weekend crashes injure 8

A head-on collision on the CCC Highway, just northeast of West Road, Sunday afternoon sent four persons to Memorial Hospital with injuries. The crash was one of seven investigated over weekend which resulted in injuries to eight persons.

Three members of a Sunbury family were admitted to Memorial Hospital with injuries sustained when their station wagon, towing a camper trailer, collided head-on with another car at 3:55 p.m. Sunday.

Admitted were Richard V. Yankie, 51, driver of the station wagon, with a lacerated nose and multiple abrasions; Rose M. Yankie, 36, suffering from fractured ankles, lacerations, and abrasions; and David L. Yankie, 13, with a puncture wound and contusions of the forehead.

The driver of the other car Michael E. Taylor, 22, of 816 Washington Ave., a City police dispatcher, was treated for a laceration of the lower lip and released. Taylor was en route home from an Air Force Reserve meeting at Lockbourne.

Sheriff's deputies said the accident occurred when the southbound Taylor car traveled left of center into the path of the northbound Yankie car. The Taylor car skidded 115 feet in the left lane before the crash.

OFFICERS at the scene said Taylor apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Traffic on the busy highway was backed up several hundred yards in both directions while wreckers cleared two demolished cars from the roadway after Mount Sterling firemen flushed away the spilled gasoline. The camper towed by Yankie also was damaged.

Two Greenfield girls were injured when their car collided with a farm tractor at the intersection of Stafford and Miami Trace roads Saturday afternoon.

Bonnie K. Harris, 17, driver of the car, and Dianne Peters, 18, were both released after first aid in the emergency room for minor injuries.

According to sheriff's deputies the tractor, operated by Otties R. Smith, 58, Rt. 2, Leesburg, had stopped for the stop sign westbound on the Miami Trace Road and then pulled into the intersection into the path of the southbound Harris car.

Officers said the Harris car skidded 110 feet in an attempt to stop before the collision.

The 1965 model car was heavily damaged. The front of Smith's 1968

No dates for Florida girl; evenings are spent in jail

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Attractive Van Harlee, a clerical assistant at the Florida Capitol, must say no every time she is asked for a date.

"I tell them I'm still the property of the state," said the 22-year-old brunette.

Each night, Miss Harlee must return to a State Corrections Department house where she and nine other women live as they serve the last months of prison sentences.

She and two other women in the work release program are employed by the state Education Department. Miss Harlee is responsible for keeping track of the 450 education bills in the legislature.

She says she never tries to hide or advertise her prison status. "I feel more at ease and they do, too, if I joke about it with the secretaries in the office who know about it."

Her sentence, like that of most of the other women she lives with, was a result of the drug culture.

She was selling drugs to support a heroin habit when arrested in St. Petersburg. An arrest in 1970 led to probation, and the second time she was sentenced to 15 months. She is due for release July 1.

Miss Harlee spent the first 11 months of her sentence in Lowell Correctional Institution and is thankful for the transition period.

"It would be hard just to walk out after being locked up 15 months," she said.

The women live in a rented house in a residential section of Tallahassee, do their own cooking and cleaning and "somewhat make the rules," said Rini Bartlett, an administrative assistant in the corrections department who lives with the women and three counselors.

The work release women are allowed to check out in groups to go shopping. "They do their own thing ... with guidance," said Miss Bartlett.

Wounded Knee accord reached

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — Negotiators for the government and Indian militants are optimistic the 69-day occupation of Wounded Knee will end this week now that a disarmament agreement has been signed.

But spokesmen for the two sides traded warnings about future takeovers and the way the government would react.

Negotiators announced on Sunday the signing of a disarmament pact that calls for weapons to be surrendered and nonresidents to leave the village at 9 a.m. EDT Wednesday.

That is to be followed by implementation of an April 5 agreement that calls for an investigation of civil rights complaints and an audit of Oglala Sioux tribal funds on the Pine Ridge Reservation. The earlier pact was to have ended the occupation of Wounded Knee but never was put into effect because of a dispute over laying down arms.

The confrontation began when American Indian Movement (AIM) forces took over the village Feb. 27 and has resulted in the deaths of two of the Indian occupiers.

AIM lawyer Ramon Roubideaux, a Sioux, said in a statement: "I think the government should realize that the type of governments on reservations is a failure. Something must be done to replace it.

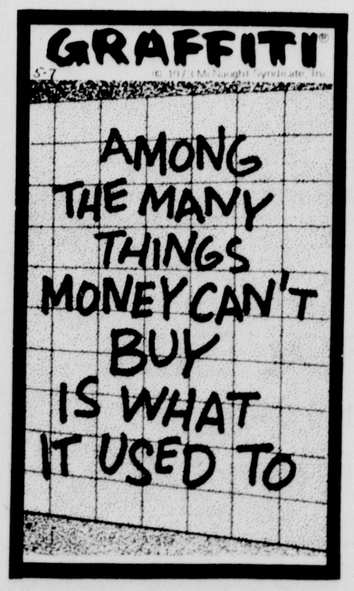
"If not, there will be more Wounded Knees. These oppressed people are not going to live under these repressive governments."

AIM has contended that traditional chiefs and headmen, not the elected officials, should rule reservations.

Richard Hellstern, deputy assistant U.S. attorney general in charge of negotiations for the government, said the government has "learned many things" during the 10-week siege.

"I don't think the pattern of patience, negotiation and renegotiation necessarily would be the same if there were another Wounded Knee," he said. "Persons contemplating another Wounded Knee might anticipate a different action on the part of the government."

Under the agreement, Indians will evacuate their bunkers and turn over their weapons to Community Relations Service personnel of the Justice Department. Legal weapons will be returned to their owners, but all other guns will be seized.



Set Ellsberg trial disclosures

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Judge Matt Byrne is expected to disclose today the contents of an affidavit by former White House aide Egil Krogh in efforts to clarify reports linking the Pentagon papers trial to the Watergate affair.

Convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt has said Krogh ordered a break-in at the office of the psychiatrist of Daniel Ellsberg, a defendant in the Pentagon papers trial in U.S. District Court here. Krogh is on leave from his job as undersecretary of transportation.

Further complicating the case, attorneys for defendants Ellsberg and Anthony Russo say they are considering asking the U.S. 9th Circuit Court of Appeal to throw out the Pentagon papers indictment on grounds the judge was "compromised."

They have complained because a now-resigned presidential adviser, John D. Ehrlichman, recently discussed the possibility of Byrne's becoming FBI director.

And Judge Byrne, confronted by what he calls "crucial legal problems," still is considering declaring a mistrial or dismissal of charges.

But he has indicated that no amount of official wrongdoing would sway his considering the central legal issue: Was any illegal evidence used by the Justice Department in the prosecution of Ellsberg and Russo?

The two men have been charged with espionage, conspiracy and theft for copying the Pentagon's top secret study of the Vietnam war.

Pressing for a jury verdict, prosecutor David Nissen has said he will show that the Justice Department never used "tainted evidence." The defense attorneys insist this never could be known for sure.

Recent events complicating the trial came in this order:

—Tuesday, May 1: The judge made public an FBI interview with Ehrlichman, who said he knew Hunt and Liddy had burglarized the doctor's office and told them "not to do this again." Ehrlichman said the two had been hired for a special investigation of the Pentagon papers leak to the press, desired by President Nixon. He said the investigation was handled out of the office of two White House aides—Krogh and David Young. The defense moved for dismissal.

—Wednesday, May 2: The judge, defending himself against defense accusations that the government had tried to "bribe" him, gave more details of his meetings with Ehrlichman and brief introductions to Nixon and foreign policy adviser Henry A. Kissinger. He said that the Pentagon papers trial was not discussed and that he refused to consider the post of FBI director until the trial was completed.

House may update panels

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even Congress has its "impossible" dreams and the House is pursuing one now—an effort to modernize its committee jurisdictions to reflect present-day concerns.

The effort was begun last week under a select 10-member committee headed by Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., who has long served in and studied the House, and knows what he's up against.

"This is an 'impossible' task, with 'impossible' in quotes," he told the House last January when it set up the committee and gave it $1.5 million for the two-year job.

What Bolling meant was that, like other congressional reforms that seemed impossible at first but were finally achieved, this one has everything against it right now but still might come off.

The committee system is the vital structure of Congress. All legislation proceeds through committees to the House floor, and each committee's jurisdiction is its sole purpose for existing.

For this reason, any attempt to change or realign jurisdictions goes to the fundamental organization of the House, the power of every member—especially the committee chairmen—and the concern of every vested interest in the nation.

One thing the Bolling committee has going for it is a wide acceptance by House members of the fact that something has to be done to make Congress a more effective institution.

It has been 25 years since Congress looked at its committee structure and during that time there have been vast shifts in public policies and national interests. Attempts to deal with them through existing committees involve strenuous contortions.

The environment, energy, urban problems, health, population growth—all matters of consuming present-day interest—have to be dealt with piecemeal by many committees.

In the area of transportation, for example, air travel is a matter for the Commerce Committee; highways are under the Public Works Committee, and mass transit is the concern of the Banking and Currency Committee.

"There is too much obsolescence, too much structural decay, too many cross-jurisdictions and overlaps, too much erosion by time in our committees," said Rep. John C. Culver, D-Iowa, in a letter to his House colleagues last December that helped get the current study under way.

Culver is one of five Democrats on the Bolling committee. The others, in addition to Bolling, are Reps. Robert G. Stephens, Ga.; Lloyd Meeds, Wash., and Paul S. Sarbanes, Md. The Republican members are Dave Martin, Neb.; Peter H.B. Frelinghuysen, N.J.; Charles E. Wiggins, Calif.; William A. Steiger, Wis., and Bill Young, Fla.

Also favoring the committee's effort is the solid support of the House leadership, both Republican and Democratic. Speaker Carl Albert, breaking a century-old tradition against a speaker testifying before a House committee, was the first witness when the hearings opened, and Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford was the second.

Link CIA deputy chief to burglary

NEW YORK (AP) — Sources say that while Marine Corps Commandant Robert E. Cushman Jr. was serving as deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency he gave the go-ahead for CIA assistance in the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's former psychiatrist, the New York Times said today.

Ellsberg is a defendant in the Pentagon papers trial.

The Times, quoting sources close to the Watergate case, said Gen. Cushman authorized the use of CIA material and research for the burglary at the request of former Presidential assistant John D. Ehrlichman.

Cushman, who left the CIA in 1971, reportedly accepted full responsibility for the decision to let the CIA assist in preparations for the break-in, the Times said.

In grand jury testimony last Wednesday, E. Howard Hunt Jr. told of using disguises, fake identification papers and a "safehouse" in Washington provided by the CIA in advance of the burglary.

A MINI-BIKE CRASH on Belle Avenue at 5:50 p.m. Saturday sent Gary L. Leisure, 15, of 240 Curtis St., to Memorial Hospital with injuries.

He was released after treatment for a knee injury.

The youth lost control of his bike while rounding a sharp left curve, deputies said. The bike ran off the right side of the road and hit the rear of a parked car owned by Lester L. Seymour, 209 Belle Ave.

Officers cited Leisure for driving without an operator's license.

Wayne W. Wisecup, 20, Good Hope, was treated in the emergency room for minor lacerations and abrasions suffered in a single car crash on Ohio 41 at Halliday's curve Sunday night.

Sheriff's deputies reported Wisecup was northbound when the car failed to negotiate the curve and ran off the right side of the pavement. The car skidded broadside and collided with a utility pole.

The right side of the 1969 model was extensively damaged in the 9:40 p.m. mishap.

Twisters, hail pound Plains; heavy snow covers Rockies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A storm with damaging winds, large hailstones and several tornadoes lashed at the Plains today after hitting the Rockies with heavy snow and torrential rain.

Several tornadoes touched down in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas Sunday night with some property damage in Texas. Golfball-sized hail pounded north central Oklahoma and 50-mile-an-hour winds were common.

The vigorous spring storm marched out of the Rockies in New Mexico and Colorado, where a tornado early Sunday destroyed a mobile home and injured five persons. Snow up to 20 inches accumulated in the Rockies east of the Continental Divide.

About 1,000 residents of the Denver area were forced from their homes by a severe flood which washed out bridges, closed roads and cut off power Sunday.

Flood warnings remained in effect for the South Platte River from Denver downstream to the Nebraska border. Interstate 25 in Denver was closed by the flooding and seven bridges were fully or partially washed out in the area.

The storm intensified and drifted toward the Texas Panhandle early today.

A severe thunderstorm watch was issued for parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas. Heavy rains brought almost 2 inches to McAlester, Okla and Harrison, Ark., and over an inch to San Antonio, Tex., and Waynesville, Mo.

A flash flood watch was issued for Arkansas and Illinois and a flash flood warning for Arkansas and Texas.

The Mississippi River at Memphis, Tenn., was expected to crest for the second time today. The annual Cotton Carnival over the weekend was hampered by the swollen river. King Cotton was forced to appear at a bandshell rather than arriving on a royal barge with his court to celebrate ths region's top crop.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 30 at Bradford, Pa., and Montpelier, Vt., to 78 at Key West, Fla.

Convoy arrives in Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The first Mekong River convoy to reach Phnom Penh in two weeks arrived today after losing a tanker to Communist fire.

Meanwhile, reports reached Phnom Penh that Cambodian insurgents overran a post 34 miles northwest of the capital last Friday, captured about 100 troops and slaughtered them.

Port authorities said the convoy of three tankers, three freighters and three munitions barges from South Vietnam came under heavy attack from shore fire 26 miles from Phnom Penh. One of the tankers carrying petroleum was sunk and two of the freighters were set ablaze by rocket fire. But the freighter crews put out the fires.

The crew of the tanker Vera No. 1 reportedly jumped overboard before she sank and government gunboats escorting the convoy picked all of them up.

U.S. taxpayers foot costs of idle ships awaiting grain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxpayers are spending between $50,000 and $100,000 a day in subsidies for at least 20 huge tankers waiting in U.S. ports, often for weeks, to be loaded with wheat and corn for the Soviet Union.

And even larger subsidies will be paid while the ships are at sea, an Associated Press survey shows.

In all, government officials say, 83 U.S.-owned ships have qualified for the special subsidies to haul grain to the Soviet Union.

"We don't know what the total subsidy bill will be," says R.A. Coonin, a spokesman for the Federal Maritime Administration. "Any figure I give you now would be understated."

Coonin said in an interview the waiting time in ports is "of growing concern" and that efforts are being made by the government, the shipping industry and the grain trade to speed schedules.

Meanwhile, he admitted, it still is common for ships to wait for weeks at Gulf ports, where most of the grain is loaded. In all, he said, the total time involving federal subsidies, including actual shipping and return, is commonly 60 to 90 days.

The subsidies vary according to size of ship and cost factors. While at sea the subsidy rate usually is $500 to $1,000 per day more than when the ships are in port waiting to take on grain.

Few of the larger tankers reportedly qualify for subsidies in excess of $10,000 at sea. Officials say most receive less.

The subsidies are paid so that U.S. ships, much more expensive to use than foreign vessels, can haul part of the $1 billion worth of wheat, corn and soybeans sold to Russia last year.

The ships—nearly all tankers—begin earning subsidies as soon as they reach the port where they take on grain.

An example is the Gulf Queen, a tanker with a capacity of 35,000 tons. Many are larger. At least two U.S.-owned tankers used for grain hauling since the subsidy arrangement began last October are in the 70,000-ton class.

According to Maritime Administration officials, the Gulf Queen arrived in Port Arthur, Tex., on March 12. For nearly seven weeks, at a federal subsidy estimated at $4,200 per day, the ship stood idly by while others took their turns at elevator grain-loading spouts.

Finally, on April 24, the Gulf Queen sailed for a Soviet port on the Black Sea with 32,500 tons of grain. While making the round-trip voyage—estimated at about 20 days "sea time" each way—the Gulf Queen will draw approximately $4,800 a day in federal subsidies for her owners, identified by the Maritime Administration as Blackships, Inc., a subsidiary of Gulf Oil Corp., New York.

Associated Press Writer

The Mississippi River is expected to remain stable and out of its banks for the next several days from St. Louis to the Gulf of Mexico.

Farmers whose crops are in danger of not being planted this year were reported to be working through the night in some areas to dry the land and attempt to salvage something.

But as new rains fell Sunday night and today in Illinois and Missouri, prospects for crops grew dimmer.

For the first time in weeks, the Mississippi was below flood stage at Davenport, Iowa, the northern end of the flood area. Downstream to the Gulf it remained above flood stage and crests at southernmost points were not expected until the end of the week.

At St. Louis, the river was beginning to feel the effects of last week's rains in Iowa and Illinois. It was expected to remain stable at seven feet above flood stage until Wednesday.

The new rains that fell today prompted the National Weather Service to issue flash flood watches for sections of Illinois, but no flooding was reported. In Missouri, a weather service forecaster said rivers would begin to rise again if today's rains amounted to two inches or more.

From Illinois south to Louisiana and Mississippi an estimated 12 million acres of normally dry land is inundated by the floodwaters. Much of it is prime farmland, where cotton, wheat, corn, soybeans and sugarcane should be growing but has yet to be planted.

Group to fight Cincinnati levy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A Roman Catholic lobbying group has announced opposition to a 4.8 operating levy for Cincinnati schools on the Tuesday ballot.

James Condit, president of Ohio Citizens for Educational Freedom, said the group has vowed to work against any public school issue until children in parochial schools benefit from public tax money.

Stock list goes lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices tumbled lower today, ending their rally of last week, and brokers attributed the plunge to investor concern over inflation and Watergate.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 8.88 to 944.99 at noon, and declines outnumbered advances by nearly 3 to 2 in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts had hoped the market would continue to add to the 32 points the Dow gained last week but said the increasing numbers of banks boosting their prime lending rates from 6¾ to 7 per cent was a negative factor. Another depressing influence was the likely possibility that sheet-steel prices would be boosted soon by as much as 6 per cent.

"The Watergate mess has put a damper on things," added Charles M. Lewis of Winkler, Cantor & Pomboy. "While it seems to have moved away slightly, the issue still is on people's minds."

Levitz Furniture, the most active issue on the Big Board, climbed ½ to 8⅝ after a 69,700-share block moved at 8½.

State solons face light floor agenda

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A relatively light floor agenda faces the 110th General Assembly this week, as the spotlight focuses on committee actions on the budget and a code of ethics bill.

The $9.9 billion budget and the ethics bill have been approved in the Democratic-dominated House and are now in the upper chamber.

Hearings on the appropriations bill have been set for 1:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. by the Senate Finance Committee.

The ethics bill for public officials was approved in the House Wednesday. It is expected to be formally reported to the Senate and assigned to the Judiciary Committee for hearings.

The House is to reconvene at 11 a.m. Tuesday and the Senate at 4 p.m. on that same day for floor sessions.

A bill before the Senate Tuesday, sponsored by Sen. William H. Mussey, R-14 Batavia, would raise the clerk's fees on temporary hunting and fishing licenses from 35 to 50 cents.

The measure would cover costs of licenses issued by Common Pleas court clerks to persons who have lost their regular permits.

The House is to vote Tuesday on a bill that would change state law and permit liquor permit holders to provide free food with the sale of alcoholic beverages.

That proposed law would merely bring it in line with customary practices, according to Liquor Director Richard Guggenheim. The prohibition against free food with liquor was adopted in 1934.

Israelis celebrate 25th anniversary

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel celebrated its 25th year of independence today with a three-hour display of the mightiest array of military hardware ever seen at one time in the Middle East. It included new weapons exhibited to the public for the first time.

Six minutes after the march began, the air force's jet fighters screamed over and continued on over population centers from the Lebanese border on the north to the Red Sea on the south, a flight of 52 minutes.

On display were Soviet tanks captured in the 1967 war and remodeled by the Israelis for frontline service, a new Israeli-designed armored halftrack outfitted with antiaircraft guns and artillery pieces and helicopters from the United States.

An estimated 300,000 persons were in the grandstands, and police said an equal number had seen the parade in dress rehearsals held during late night hours last week.

Armed troops kept watchful eyes on the crowd, ready for any attempt by Arab guerrillas to disrupt the celebration.

A hundred ambulances and 1,000 medical personnel were standing by.

The parade was the object of much criticism, at home as well as abroad. The United Nations asked that it be cancelled because part of its route lay through Arab East Jerusalem, recaptured from Jordan in the 1967 war, and that would anger the Arab nations. Many Israelis contended that the $4.7 million being spent on the parade should be used for social welfare. Others felt it contributed to an undesirable warlike image.

The government rejected all objections.

Independence celebrations began Sunday night after a memorial day for the nation's war dead. The celebrating kept up until dawn.

Visitors from all over the nation camped in the parks of Jerusalem and noisily wandered the streets of Tel Aviv and Haifa.

Fireworks displays throughout the country lit the skies.

In Tel Aviv, bands played from street corner bandstands, and dancing young people jammed blocked off streets.

In the territories north, east and south of Jerusalem that Israel occupied in 1967, the joyful mood was replaced by indifference tinged with bitterness.

"The Israelis are the winners, and we are the losers, and this is a celebration of the winners," said Elias Shehada, a 27-year-old Arab hotelman.'

The police station in Jericho was decked with the blue and white colors of the Jewish state; there were no decorations in the rest of the lush Arab town, the home of many Palestinians displaced by the 1948 war that followed Israel's independence proclamation.

Premier Golda Meir in an anniversary television interview said Sunday that she had proposed secret peace talks to President Anwar Sadat of Egypt through several intermediaries but had received no answer.

Mrs. Meir said she assured Sadat that "we really want peace," that the talks would "remain secret for as long as he desires" and that they could be carried on by representatives of the two countries rather than by the leaders themselves.

Special prosecutor question

High administration figures are being more and more deeply implicated in the wide-ranging political espionage and sabotage scandal. Each fresh disclosure lends further emphasis to the need for a special prosecutor brought in front outside the Justice Department to supervise the investigation.

Saying this is not intended as a reflection on Elliot Richardson, who has replaced Richard G. Kleindienst as attorney general. However, it must be noted that while Richardson is an able public servant of thus far unquestioned integrity and devotion to duty, he is nonetheless an administration man. Considerations of propriety and good sense suggest that with the scandal reaching into the White House itself it would be advisable to have someone not identified with the administration direct the official inquiry into this sordid matter.

Two key questions confront us: What kind of man should be entrusted with this task, and how should he be chosen? As to the first point, certainly the special prosecutor ought to be a distinguished member of the bar who not only has no direct ties with the administration but also has not played a markedly partisan role in public life.

Should the choice be left in the hands of the attorney general, as the President intimated in his Watergate address? In our judgment the choice would be more acceptable if it were made, whether or not by Richardson, from a list drawn up by persons of outstanding reputation comprising a bipartisan panel.

The lesson of events two decades ago, when a special prosecutor was named to investigate corruption in the Truman administration, should be heeded. On that occasion Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath named a distinguished New Yorker, Newbold Morris, as a special assistant attorney general for this purpose. The Morris appointment was excoriated as a coverup, and he was denied subpoena powers. He acted boldly nevertheless, but was fired by McGrath - who in turn was fired by Truman - and the Justice Department wound up making its own inquiry.

We do not imply that any similar fiasco would result were Richardson to appoint a special prosecutor without outside consultation. We do suggest that it is a possibility which ought to be avoided.

There is a way to avert any such outcome in the investigation of what looks like one of the major scandals in American Political history. This is to make certain that the person singled out for the job will come to it with the strongest possible assurances as to his or her probity and impartiality.

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Israel's 25th anniversary

On the tenth anniversary of the Soviet Union, or thereabouts, Karl Radek, the irreverent imp among Marxist theorists, said to the American journalist Ernestine Evans: "There must be something to this Marxism-Leninism. We're still here."

On the 25th anniversary of the state of Israel, celebrated this week, similar sentiments about the strength of Zionism are surely being expressed in Jerusalem and all the way from Dan to Beersheba. Israel is still here.

To anyone who has visited Israel, which discounting the sands of Sinai, is no larger than New Jersey or Connecticut, the fact of its existence is a geographical miracle. Its 2,600,000 Jews (up from the 650,000 of 1948) live, many of them joyously, in an enclave of surrounding Arab states that have 40 times its population.

The nation exists by its wits and technical skills (one of its big money-making exports is cut diamonds for which the crude stones have to be imported from Africa, and it trades its own superior grain for money that buys less desirable but nourishing substitutes, thus leaving a balance of savings in the bank).

WHERE RELIGION does not serve as the binder, a sense of history does. The driver who took me up and down Israel, Benny Bitter (a quite unbitter man), loved unorthodox Arab food, but clung to Biblical texts as "the history of my people." Since 1948 a million and a half Jews — the Diaspora in reverse — have come as immigrants to Israel from 102 separate countries.

They were the Sephardic Jews from Moorish lands of Africa, or Ashkenazic Jews from the Rhineland or Vienna, or even agnostics from Brooklyn or the Bronx, yet the pressures of the Hitler-haunted times made them homogeneous in spite of ethical, spiritual or economic differences.

I have some good Arab friends, and I wish I could convince them that the time has come to forget their understandable grievances about the displacement of Palestinians in the war of 1948. The Arabs are not going to rid themselves of Israel by force. The Israelis can fly jets in disciplined fashion; they can even make Mirage planes from the blueprints they spirited out of France.

They have the capacity to put together nuclear weapons if they should ever need them in a pinch. The Israeli young may have their differences with the Golda Meir generation, but only a handful of the youths questions the need to serve in a technologically proficient army of 420,000.

The watch at Sharm el-Sheik at the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba in the south, along the Golan Heights in the north, and at some nicely calculated strategic point in the middle of the Sinai desert in the west, will be kept no matter what is done about ceding captured territory to the Egyptians along the Suez Canal or to Jordan on the West Bank in the region of Nablus.

The Arabs have all those oil revenues, and they could buy a good life for any Palestinian who wishes a destiny outside — or even inside — the State of Israel. This may not be deemed heroic.

But to pursue absolute justice in a world of imperfect men is idiotic. The British loyalists who fled mainland America for the Bahamas or Nova Scotia in 1776 made their peace with events. Besides, the Palestinian Arabs were themselves late comers to Israel; Jews were there several millennia before the Arabs filtered in, and they were never totally displaced even at the height of the Diaspora. When the Egyptians talk of pushing the Israelis into the sea, they forget that a major part of the contested land was legitimately purchased by returning Jews who drained the swamps and irrigated the desert to make a fruitful agriculture where none had existed since Biblical times.

IF THE ARABS would only desist, they might find a great boon in cooperating with the Israelis to make the Middle East bloom. The Israelis have the skills to put atomic energy to work distilling fresh irrigation water from salt. They know how to anchor hillside soil by planting trees. They have sent their experts into the non-Moslem areas of Africa to teach modern agriculture, and their technicians have even turned up in the arid northeast of Brazil to help pull a stricken area up by its bootstraps.

After a state has existed for 25 years and proved its capacity to fend off a continuing encirclement with elan and esprit, it is time to say it is here for good. When Nixon and Kissinger take their cause of a new Atlantic Charter to Europe, the protection of Israel should be written into it. Once that is done, the problem of giving justice to displaced Palestinian Arabs will not be too difficult to solve in peace.

Hal Boyle . . .

Look gift horse in mouth

by JOY STILLEY

Editor's Note: Hal Boyle is ill.

NEW YORK (AP) — Always look a gift horse in the mouth. Otherwise it might bite you.

My steed arrived through the courtesy of my husband, who had won a $10 gift certificate at an office party.

He turned it over to me because (choose one): he is generous to a fault; he does not need anything; the certificate came from a woman's specialty shop.

"Easy come, easy go," I muttered happily as I dashed off to the store to exchange my windfall for something really frivolous. Alas! Frivolity comes with a high price tag in that particular shop. I decided to settle for practicality.

Unfortunately, the store's practical things were also in the luxury class. Nowhere could I find a common meeting ground for my desires and the face value of my certificate. I tucked it in my purse to await the seasonal markdowns.

The spring sales came and I went bargain hunting. But with the temperature in the 70s I didn't feel a drastic need for a fringed mohair scarf.

I regularly transferred the certificate into the pocketbook du jour, never knowing when I might find my heart's desire. One day as I passed the store I decided to see if anything new — and cheap — had arrived, and reached for the now-frayed certificate.

Gone! Lost! A ten-dollar treat forever denied me! I chided myself for not having spent it speedily if not well.

When I eventually found it tucked in another purse I decided to use it immediately. My visit to the shop failed to turn up anything I really wanted so I finally concluded that an extra bottle of my favorite cologne would not go amiss.

It came to $7.50, plus tax. The saleslady regretfully declared that my change could only be given in a store scrip. Knowing full well that I could never find anything to use that $2-plus on, I grandly announced I would just take another bottle of the cologne.

With the tax, the transaction came to $16.05.

While the whole thing cost me $6.05, a lot of aisle-pounding and some moments of despair, I take comfort in the fact that I should still be smelling good by the time the next gift horse trots my way.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, May 7, the 127th day of 1973. There are 238 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, at the end of World War II in Europe, the Germans signed unconditional surrender terms at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's temporary headquarters at Rheims, France.

On his date:

In 1789, the first presidential inaugural ball was held in New York in honor of President and Mrs. George Washington.

In 1833, the German composer, Johannes Brahms, was born.

In 1915, the British liner Lusitania was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine off Ireland, with a loss of 1,100 lives.

In 1939, the military and political alliance known as the Rome-Berlin Axis was announced by Germany and Italy.

In 1943, Allied forces in World War II won a major victory in North Africa as Tunis and Bizerte were liberated.

In 1960, it was announced by Moscow that an American pilot shot down over the Soviet Union, Francis Gary Powers, would be put on trial as a spy.

Ten years ago: Police and firemen in Birmingham, Ala., drove hundreds of rioting blacks off the streets, and there were injuries on both sides.

Five years ago: Democratic presidential contender Robert F. Kennedy swept to a solid victory in a primary election in Indiana.

One year ago: The United States pledged $100 million to support the army in Thailand.

Today's birthdays: Poet Archibald MacLeish is 81 years old. Actress Anne Baxter is 50.

New tricks for an old law

Ever now and again an old law comes in handy for dealing with a current situation that may not even have been foreseen when the law was enacted. That is the situation with regard to Colorado oil sludge ponds which allegedly cause the deaths of thousands of migratory waterfowl. Seven Denver-based oil companies which maintain such ponds have been charged by the Department of Justice under a 50-year-old law enacted to protect migratory birds from poachers.

It is not poaching that is involved in this instance. What happens is that the sludge ponds, used to settle byproducts of drilling operations before the water is released into streams, become covered with oil. The muck penetrates the birds' feathers, and many die — up to 30,000 annually, according to claims being investigated by the U. S. Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife.

The oil firms are entitled to their day in court, and therefore our comments should not be taken as a prejudgment of the case. There appears to be little doubt, however, that oil-covered ponds have done in a lot of waterfowl.

Such birds are a part of our precious heritage of wildlife, and all reasonable effort must be made to protect them. If oil companies are guilty of creating a deadly condition, they should be required to take corrective action.

Dear Abby:

His fear of nudity leaves wife in the dark

By ABIGAIL VAN BURREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a Catholic widow married to a good Catholic widower. The problem is he won't let me into our bedroom while he's dressing or undressing. And if he's in the room while I'm undressing, he turns his head. He acts as if it's sinful for us to see each other undressed.

I thought maybe time would improve the situation, but it has been years, and he's still the same.

I must admit that our sex life is wonderful-in the dark. This may not seem like much of a problem but it makes me feel less of a wife, and I am hurt.

What is the official Catholic position on nudity, Abby? Perhaps the reason for my husband's attitude can be found there.

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: There is no Catholic doctrine on nudity. Nudity is the natural state and is so regarded in matrimonial affairs. You can't blame your husband's inhibited attitude on his religious upbringing. Leave well enough alone, lady.

DEAR ABBY: We're a couple of old goats. My husband is 72 and I'm 70. We're not in the best of health, but we're not feeble or senile (I hope), and the Lord willing, we will celebrate our 50th wedding anniversary in June.

We want to give a dinner party ourselves and invite our friends, relatives and a few neighbors, but our married daughter and son won't hear of it. THEY want to give the party and foot the bill.

Abby, we appreciate what the kids want to do, but they both have families and need their money. We want printed invitations with a line on the bottom, "No gifts, please." The kids are having a fit and say, "You just don't do that." (Abby, we don't need anything.) We don't want to make jackasses of ourselves, but at our stage in life we don't want more things. Help please.

MIDWEST READER

DEAR READER: Let the kids give the party, and don't suggest, "no gifts."

DEAR ABBY: My problem is so personal I cannot discuss it with anyone. I am 67 years old. I lost my husband two years ago, and at the same time I lost my hearing. It is amazing how your friends will desert you when you've lost your hearing, so I took up lipreading and sign language.

Last summer I met a 36-year-old man who is also deaf, and we have been having a wonderful romance. (I am discreet and do not flaunt it.)

I have no intentions of marrying the young man because if I did, I would lose all my benefits. Please let me know what you think. I will abide by your decision.

ANONYMOUS IN ARIZONA

DEAR ANON: As an adult, you may make your own decisions without concerning yourself with what your so-called friends say. I advise you to do just that.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WAITING TO GET EVEN" IN HUNTSVILLE, ALA.: Of all the virtues, being able to forgive and forget will do the most for you.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, MAY 8

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

A day for remaining in the background. Your hunches are correct, but this is not the time for taking direct action. Only through subtlety will you win the gains you desire.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

An unexpected discovery you make will prove profitable. Your clue lies in reading between the lines, carefully studying the "fine print."

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Though innately an impatient soul, you will now have to let things take their course. Good developments are in the making but could be offset if you try to jump the gun.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Be ready for changes. Some surprising orders are given regarding your duties and responsibilities. Maintain your balance and avoid extremes.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

A good day for travel but you may need some additional information before taking off — especially where finances are concerned.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Avoid present tendencies toward self-deception. Take off the rose-colored glasses and see persons and situations as they really ARE.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Personal relationships highly congenial. In fact, your career status may be boosted through an influential person.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Stress your independence of thought. Don't let conservative associates talk you out of an unconventional idea.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Certain favorable situations in your work area now further your interests. An excellent day for handling matters of a confidential nature.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

A day when you MUST stress optimism. That feeling of foreboding you have is merely a mood — and will pass.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Don't mix business with pleasure now and don't press issues. As with Gemini, it will be better to let things take their course for the time being.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Some deceptive influences. Someone may try to involve you in a dubious activity. Steer clear and don't listen.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a multitude of fine qualities and the potentials for attainment of a high order. Unlike most Taureans, your talents run more to business organization and finance rather than to the creative. You do, however, have the same love of beauty and artistry as others of your Sign, but may satisfy it by becoming an exhibitor of patron of the arts. Innately, you are precise, methodical, loyal and have a great love for mankind and for the outdoors. Fields in which you could make an outstanding success, aside from the aforementioned business and finance: the law, statesmanship; manufacturing and forestry.

Expected demand for steel to outstrip industry output

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — There is no decrease in steel demand, but steel companies can't continue to ship at current levels, Industry Week magazine said Monday.

It said that shipments will decline in the third quarter because incoming orders exceed the industry's capacity to make steel.

"Mills have been maintaining record-level shipments so far this year only by drawing upon their own inventories," Industry Week said.

Raw steel production in April was at a record high for that month, according to the magazine, which estimated the April output at 12.8 million net tons. This compared with the previous high for April, 12,565,000 tons, in 1971.

Industry Week estimated raw steel production last week at 2,997,000 tons.

"The help that imports were giving in supplying steel to U.S. users may be about ended," it said. "Major steel companies are forecasting a dramatic drop in steel imports this year.

"Imports in March were 1,169,807 net tons, third highest on record for the month. Imports in January and February set records for those months. The record total for the first quarter is 3,856,510 net tons and first half totals may also be a record."

Some people believe that steel imports to the U.S. this year will not be more than 14 million tons, compared with last year's 17,681,007 net tons and the record of 18,303,959 tons in 1971, Industry Week said.

"Strong world demand and higher prices on foreign steel are the main reasons," it added.

The magazine said high production of steel and the accompanying need for scrap, a raw material for steelmaking, pushed up scrap prices.

Its price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap rose to $48.17 per gross ton last week from the preceding week's $47.17.

Peanut Butter Pinwheels

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

If you are an experienced baker and like to fuss with food, you'll be interested in this recipe for Peanut Butter Pinwheels. The dough is easy enough to make but having the chocolate-filled rolls at just the right temperature takes some judgment. Good luck!

PEANUT BUTTER PINWHEELS

2 cups unsifted flour, stir to aerate before measuring
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter
½ cup creamy peanut butter
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1-3 cup granulated sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
Chocolate Filling, see below

On wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt.

In a large mixing bowl cream butter and peanut butter; gradually beat in sugars. Add egg and vanilla and beat until blended. Gradually stir in flour mixture. Form dough into a ball, cover with plastic wrap and chill while preparing filling.

Divide chilled dough in half. Roll out one half of dough between two sheets of wax paper to a 10 by 8 inch rectangle. Slip dough with wax paper onto a cookie sheet and refrigerate to chill. Roll out remaining half of dough the same way. Remove first half of dough from refrigerator and place second half in refrigerator.

Remove top sheet of wax paper from chilled dough. Spread dough with one-half (1-3 cup) of the Chocolate Filling. Roll up tightly from 10-inch side using wax paper to aid in the rolling. Gently press edge to seal. Wrap roll in plastic wrap and refrigerate. Repeat filling and rolling with second half of dough.

Chill rolls of dough about 1 hour or until they can be sliced. If too cold, chocolate will crumble. If chilled several hours, remove from refrigerator and let soften at room temperature until dough is soft enough to slice well — 15 to 30 minutes. Using a thin sharp knife, cut rolls into ¼-inch slices. Place slices 1 inch apart on lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until lightly browned — 6 to 8 minutes. Cool on wire cake racks. Store in tightly covered tin box.

Makes about 6½ dozen.

CHOCOLATE FILLING

In a small heavy saucepan over low heat, stirring constantly, melt one 6-ounce package (1 cup) semisweet chocolate pieces and 2 tablespoons butter. Cool at room temperature but do not let chocolate harden. Makes about 2-3 cup.

A 10-ounce package of sliced frozen strawberries will make enough topping for a quart of ice cream. Sprinkle the ice with flaked coconut and call the dessert a sundae.

Add minced chives to eggs that are going to be scrambled: then just before the eggs are ready, fold in cottage cheese. Delicious for a weekend brunch.

4-H'ers find sewing clothes fun

Sewing your own clothes is easy, say these two 4-H'ers. And they add, you'll really look great besides. Members enrolled in the 4-H clothing program find out how easy, enjoyable and fun making your own wardrobe can be. Boys as well as girls are encouraged to participate in the program. Aiding the 4-H boys and girls with educational aids, and incentive and recognition awards is Coats & Clark, Inc., donor of awards in the 4-H clothing program.

It doesn't take years of sewing experience to create a modern wardrobe for yourself. New products and new fabrics have made home sewing easier and more enjoyable.

The 786,000 4-H girls and boys enrolled in the national 4-H clothing program are using needles and thread and sewing machines, fabric, patterns and notions to create clothing that's appealing, attractive and confortable for themselves, their friends, and others.

Supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service and sponsored by Coats & Clark, Inc., the 4-H clothing program helps 4-H'ers become knowledgeable consumers. They learn to buy fabrics, sewing equipment, notions, accessories. Awareness of new fabrics and new products related to home sewing and the care of clothing are stressed in the program.

Along with developing sewing skills and having the satisfaction of wearing garments they've made, 4-H'ers also share what they've learned with others.

Carol Myers, a 1972 national winner in the 4-H clothing program, taught sewing techniques to 92 low income girls in her home town of Winston-Salem, N.C. The program she began was so successful that local officials used it as a pattern for similar programs in other locations.

The creativity involved in making their own clothes also leads 4-H members toward careers in the field of fashion. Patricia Vandeventer, another 1972 national winner, from Tulsa, Okla, is preparing for a career in the fashion designer because of her 4-H clothing experiences. "My interest in fashion design sharpened (in the 4-H clothing program) as I saw how my artistic ability and creative nature could be used in a clothing career," Miss Vandeventer commented.

Coats & Clark, Inc., which has supported the 4-H clothing program for 33 years, provides incentives and recognition for involved young people. Up to four county winners received medals of honor, while the top 4-H clothing winner in each state receives an expense-paid trip to the 52nd National 4-H Congress in Chicago, No. 25-29.

At the national event, six are chosen by the Cooperative Extension Service to receive $700 educational scholarships, courtesy of Coats & Clark, Inc.

The awards donor also provides 4-H members and leaders with instruction booklets on numerous sewing techniques that will help them improve their skills.

For more information about the 4-H clothing program, contact the county extension office.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences this year is giving its Emmy awards in two separate shows—one for entertainment and the other for news achievements.

The entertainment awards— voted on by members of the TV entertainment industry—will be given out May 20 in Los Angeles in ceremonies broadcast by the ABC television network.

Two days later, CBS will televise Emmy news awards ceremonies here. And who were the judges for these awards?

All were TV critics from newspapers around the country. They convened in Chicago two weekends ago to view the entries and cast ballots.

Their expenses for the Chicago trip were paid by the academy, according to an academy spokeswoman who said between 60 and 70 TV critics took part in the voting.

Broadcast newsmen weren't invited to participate in the voting for Emmy news awards because of possible conflict-of-interest, according to academy officials. Okay. But why TV critics?

Why not print journalists who've covered the stories cited in the Emmy news nominations and know first-hand the time, work, contacts and deadline pressures involved in getting these stories?

Academy officials say print journalists might exhibit bias against their electronic brethren.

And, says the academy spokeswoman, the idea of TV critics as judges was endorsed by the networks and recommended by the journalism school professors who've judged TV news for he academy in the past.

Spring isn't over, but the ABC, CBS and NBC summer evening entertainment schedules already are out. And it appears CBS will have an all-rerun summer unless the current Writers' Guild strike is resolved by early June.

A new variety show and two situation comedies were scheduled to start in July until the strike put them in doubt, CBS says.

NBC's summer schedule calls for two weekly shows. One, a country music show taped in the Nashville area, is scheduled to appear Thursday nights, starting July 19.

It isn't affected by the strike. The other show, a musical variety program hosted by singer Helen Reddy, is affected. If the dispute continues, her show won't start in mid-June as planned and reruns of other shows will be offered, NBC says.

ABC has three original situation comedy series and an hour comedy-variety show coming up in the summer weeks. It says none of the shows is affected by the writers' strike.

Two of the situation comedies—"Thicker Than Water" and "Love Thy Neighbor"—debut June 13 and June 15, respectively. The third, "Corner Bar," is the same series that appeared on ABC last summer. It now has a new cast, fresh pretzels and is scheduled to appear Aug. 3.

Demo dinner tickets go well

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A promise of cold weather and sophisticated mail and telephone solicitation operations are credited as helping early ticket sales to the Ohio Democratic party's May 12 $100 a plate fund raising dinner here, party official David A. Meeker said.

Meeker said the dinner was moved up this year by three weeks as a result of last year's experience with very warm weather.

Gov. John J. Gilligan jokingly told the audience that they got a steak and a sauna for their $100 contributions, Meeker said.

The party official said virtually all proceeds from this year's fund-raiser will be saved for use in statewide campaigns in 1974. Because 1973 "is not a statewide election year," Meeker said, "we will invest the dinner proceeds in high-yield certificates of deposit to help finance next year's campaigns."

Athens sniping brings arrest

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — David R. Gedeon, a former Ohio University graduate student, was expected to be arraigned in Athens County Municipal court today in connection with a sniping incident in Athens Saturday.

Athens police said Gedeon, 23, is to be arraigned on two charges of assault with a deadly weapon.

Detectives said they answered a call Saturday night that someone was shooting at cars on a main street in the city.

Officers said they found a .22 caliber rifle in Gedeon's possession after they routed him from his apartment with tear gas.

Gilligan speaks on ERA, ethics

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Gov. John J. Gilligan held out hopes Sunday that a Senate committee will reconsider this week the vote by which it rejected the federal equal rights amendment for women.

Gilligan, speaking to the Associated Press Society of Ohio, indicated the motion would be made. He said he had talked to several committee members but didn't believe ERA had the votes to get to the floor.

Gilligan said he had considered establishing some form of investigative staff in the executive branch to probe cases of influence-peddling and bribery accusations within the Department of Commerce.

The governor said the Watergate scandals on the national level and apparent wrong-doing among persons in his own administration underscored the need for ethics legislation.

"I think it is evident we have people in public office who cannot distinguish what is ethical conduct and what is unethical," Gilligan said.

During a question and answer session following his breakfast talk, Gilligan admitted that recent charges of wrong-doing within his administration were "damaging" when related to events in the Watergate scandal.

He said no public official had "any cause for glee" over the Watergate events because it damaged public trust in government.

"We will not tolerate in this administration unethical conduct, let alone illegality," Gilligan said.

Noting Ohio has some 52,000 persons on the state payroll, he said it was impossible to make sure all of them were ethical. "Do we attempt to cover it up or do we root it out?" he asked, saying he would do the latter.

Gilligan applauded the press for its role in exposing wrongdoing in the Watergate scandal as well as reports of illegal acts within his own administration.

The governor predicted the attacks on the press would cease in view of what has been exposed. He said the press' expose of Watergate was "a great public service."

"A free press, like free men, has much greater responsibility than an enslaved press or enslaved men," he said.

Gilligan urged the press to go after what it considered bad within his administration but said if what it was probing turned out to be good "they should say that."

2 Ohio teenagers die in Indiana crash

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Two Ohio teenagers attending Manchester College in Indiana were killed Sunday when their car was struck by a Penn Central Freight train on a Wabash County road north of Manchester.

Police said the two 19-year-olds, Robin E. Hutcheson of West Milton and Bradley E. Besecker of rural Laura, were killed when their car was hit at a railroad crossing.

Twenty-eight separate kinds of rattlesnakes live from southern Canada to Uruguay, but most live in the dry region from the southwestern states of the United States through the Mexican highlands.

WC students to offer opera

WILMINGTON — Wilmington College students will present the opera, "The Triumph of Honor," by Allesandro Scarlatti May 19 and 20 at 8 p.m. in Boyd Auditorium.

Director of the opera is Mrs. Patricia Giesbrecht, assistant professor of music at Wilmington College. Conductor is Robert J. Haskins, associate professor of music and chairman of the department. Haskins will also play the recitatives on the harpsichord, as was the tradition when the opera was first performed in 1718 in Naples.

The cast includes Mareta Alden and Gwen Bogan of Wilmington; Elizabeth Brookie, of Rt. 1, Frankfort, Cecil Brown, Eugene Clark, Wayne Dunn, Lisa Gefvert, Steven Haines, of Wilmington, Jackie Martin and Terri Miller.

Scarlatti's work, his only comic opera, is the earliest example of a full-length opera buffa in literary Italian. At Wilmington College, the comedy will be sung in English.

Sears Tower topped out in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A 2,500-pound carbon steel beam signed by hundreds of Sears Roebuck and Co. employes was hoisted more than a quarter of a mile into the air Thursday to top out the Sears Tower, officially making the structure the world's tallest.

The steel and glass super building on the southeastern section of Chicago's downtown area rises 1,454 feet-110 stories—and measures 4.5 million square feet.

Under construction since 1970 at a cost of more than $150 million, the skyscraper surpasses in height the previous world's tallest building — the world Trade Center in New York City — by 104 feet. The third highest at 1,250 feet is the Empire State building in New York.

With a proposed television mast, the Sear Tower's total height will be 1,800 feet.

More than 1,500 men worked on the building. Six of them were killed during construction.

Eventually, the building will house about 7,000 Sears employes plus 8,000 employes of firms renting space.

Those of us who drive today are survivors, says Ohio Highway Safety Director Pete O'Grady. Every day thousands of other drivers who take to our highways aren't so lucky. Take careful driving with you wherever you go.

Ohio Perspective

Thought father of deed for solon

By DEAN SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When 6-foot-3, 260-pound Ronald M. Mottl stands up to bat in the Ohio Legislature, he swings for the home run.

The crew-cut Parma senator leads his league — the Senate — in introducing bills and resolutions in the 110th General Assembly.

"Introducing all these bills makes me have a low batting average," he said. "But I would rather be a long-ball hitter, than a hitter for average."

Among his 21 proposals are bans on common law marriages, oil drilling in Lake Erie and lie detector tests for job applicants. He also has offered measures to create a limited no-fault auto insurance plan, a one-chamber legislature and a Cleveland State University medical school.

His home run for this legislative session is a proposal to implement a state-operated lottery. He struck out twice on the measure during the previous session.

Both the House and Senate have supported his idea and have agreed to submit it to a vote in tomorrow's statewide primary.

Mottl, a 38-year-old attorney, takes pride in his legislative efforts. "My bills are not administration bills," he said. "They're all mine.

"These are my babies," he said, pointing a finger to his large chest.

During his three terms as a state senator from a hard hat district, he has developed a philosophy: "If I wanted to take it easy, I wouldn't prepare all these bills. I have this attitude — When you get an idea, throw it in the hopper."

When an idea for a new bill comes into his head, Mottl said he gives a "blueprint" to the Legislative Service Commission, the research arm of the legislature.

"They draw up the bill for me, and it has to be to my satisfaction," he said.

"If you look at most of my bills, 99 per cent are substantive measures that are in the best interest of the people of Ohio," he said.

But an example of the one per cent is a resolution during the last legislative session that called for resumption of the Ohio State-Notre Dame football series. The measure died.

Mottl, an Irish alumnus, said Notre Dame came from behind to defeat the Buckeyes, 18-13, in their last game in 1935. He called it the "greatest game of the century," adding the rivalry is worth renewing.

Be on lookout for children, Auto Club says

Although the Ohio weatherman hasn't been his usual cooperative self this spring, the calendar points to warm weather soon.

That means motorists once again must be especially alert for children in the streets, according to Mrs. Fred Shoop, secretary - manager of the Fayette County Automobile Club.

"Youngsters going to and from school or just having a good time playing often have many things on their minds other than thoughts of traffic," the AAA official noted. Mrs. Shoop added that school will soon be out for the summer and many more youngsters will be on the streets, in the parks and playgrounds.

Unfortunately, too many drivers have a tendency to expect children to follow pedestrian safety patterns like little adults; yet in many cases youngsters appear to have little fear of dangers and naturally lack adult maturity and experience, according to a study cited by AAA.

The greatest danger is in residential areas where automobiles are parked, the club spokesman indicated, noting that drivers must be especially watchful for children darting in and out between cars.

AAA feels parents and drivers must share the responsibility for children safety. Parents are urged to remind their children of rules for crossing streets safely, to obey traffic signals and to set good examples themselves. The ensuing warm weather won't be spoiled by accidents if everyone follows good safety practices, Mrs. Shoop emphasized.

Seek Lucas jail escapee

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A Lucas County jail trustee, 22-year-old Renaldo Gonzales, walked away from the jail Sunday. He was the second prisoner to escape from the facility in less than 10 days.

Sheriff William Calanan said Gonzales escaped during the early morning hours through an unlocked delivery door in the jail kitchen.

The man was being held on charges of driving without a license and profanity.

Last Monday, 18-year-old John Wiley was accidentally released when a deputy overlooked a grand jury order sentencing Wiley to a state reformatory. He was being held on two convictions of armed robbery and assault with a deadly weapon.

Calanan said he contacted the U.S. Bureau of Prisons in February concerning the jail's security problem. Representatives of the bureau are expected in Toledo Tuesday, according to the sheriff.

Right to Life Rally is held

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Anti-abortionists jammed downtown Fountain Square Sunday for a Right to Life rally and to hear pleas for an overturning of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling legalizing abortions.

There were some estimates that the crowd was 5,000.

Dr. Jack Wilke, a physician and co-chairman of the Cincinnati Right to Life group, said bills to legalize euthenasia are pending in several state legislatures and he added:

"These people are using the term 'meaningful existence' to justify killing people—just like the abortion advocates are."

He declared that 99 per cent of the abortions in the nation this year were for "social reasons, not medical ones."

Another speaker, Michael Uhlmann, legislative aide to U.S. Sen. James Buckley (R-NY), said:

"If the Supreme Court can decide who is a person in the whole sense, that decision can easily be extended to the senile, the handicapped and anyone else who is not a person in the whole sense."

Pair convicted of bank heist

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two men were convicted Friday of conspiracy and grand larceny in connection with an Orange County bank robbery last year which netted the men more than $5 million in cash, securities and other valuables found in safe deposit boxes.

A U.S. District Court jury deliberated for two days before returning the verdict against James F. Densio, 40 of Youngstown, Ohio, and Ronald Barber, 30, of South Gate, Calif. The pair was acquitted of actually entering the bank.

Three other men, including Densio's brother, already have been convicted in the case. Sentenced to 20 years in federal prison were Amil Densio, 36, Charles Muligan, 38, and Phillip B. Christoper, 31, all of the Youngstown area.

Largest banks boost interest

NEW YORK (AP) — Many of the nation's largest banks have raised their prime interest rate from 6¾ to 7 per cent as part of a gradual process to bring it in line with open market interest rates.

The increase brings the prime, the minimum interest paid by corporate customers on short term loans, to its highest level in 2½ years and follows on the heels of another quarter per cent boost.

Own a Cadillac?
Of course you can!

Right now, you could be very, very close to the special pleasures of Cadillac ownership.

Because right now there exists a very special set of circumstances favoring the person who longs to be a Cadillac owner.

It begins with the beautiful new 1973 Cadillacs themselves. These cars are the finest ever built by Cadillac—reflected by the fact that the '73 Sedan deVille, shown above, has already established itself as the single most popular luxury car in automotive history.

There are nine great '73 Cadillacs from which to choose. And right now, your Cadillac dealer can probably supply just the model you want . . . just the way you want it!

If a new Cadillac is not yet in your plans, consider the pleasure of driving a Cadillac of another year. The great demand for new Cadillacs has made a number of beautiful previously-owned cars available. Like the 1971 Eldorado or 1969 Coupe deVille, shown above.

It's true. A Cadillac of any recent year will likely have more luxury, more convenience features, more power equipment than you'll find on many of today's new cars.

For a lot of reasons, there couldn't be a better time to visit your authorized Cadillac dealer than right now.

First choose Cadillac...then choose the year.

Theft, burglary cases under investigation

Two 13-year-old Wilmington youths were arrested by sheriff's deputies on petty larceny charges at Roller Haven, CCC Highway-W Saturday night.

Officers said the pair allegedly had removed $19 from the billfold of Leonard W. Theener, Rt. 3, Sabina. Theener told officers he had lost the billfold from his pocket while at the skating rink and immediately searched the area but could not find it.

The empty billfold was discovered at the rear of the rink by sheriff's deputies and the two youths were later apprehended following an investigation.

They were released to the custody of their parents.

Horse equipment valued at $470 was stolen from a barn on the R. W. Beckman farm, CCC Highway-E, during the past week. Beckman told officers an electric groom, two blankets and two halters, one inlaid with silver, were missing. The theft took place between April 27 and 30.

A 16-YEAR-OLD Fayette County girl was treated at Memorial Hospital for an overdose of drugs Sunday evening. The girl apparently had became despondant and swallowed 18 sinus pills, sheriff's deputies said.

She was released after treatment.

City police investigated the theft of two bicycles, one from the Virgil Copas home, 1017 Center St., and the other from the Mary Ingrim residence, 1118 E. Temple St. Both bicycles were girls' models.

Richanna Holford, of 920 Forest St., reported that five stereo tapes had been removed from her home Saturday evening by an intruder. She said she saw the man leaving as she arrived at the residence. Loss was set at $30.

National Hospital Week being observed in WCH

Fayette County Memorial Hospital will join the nation's more than 7,000 hospitals in a National Hospital Week celebration to honor the 3 million persons employed in health care institutions.

National Hospital Week, which is sponsored annually by the American Hospital Association, is being observed May 6-12. The national theme for the week is, "Your Hospital - a caring community, your health, our common concern".

Robert L. Kunz, Memorial Hospital administrator, said: "We believe this theme describes our institution. With increasing public concern about the quality, availability and cost of health care, the employes of Fayette County Memorial Hospital are a community of caring people, who are concerned about bringing better health care to more people as efficiently as possible."

During the past year, from April, 1972, to April, 1973, Memorial Hospital has cared for .63 per cent less inpatients; however, there have been 119 more emergency room visits, 848 more laboratory tests, 274 more x-ray examinations, 259 more physical therapy treatments, and 991 more inhalation therapy treatments in the past 12 months. "We can speak with pride of our new coronary care unit, the expanded respiratory therapy department, the School of Practical Nursing and our newest effort, the Explorer Post which instructs high school boys and girls in the allied medical fields," Kunz said.

Special events planned for National Hospital Week are:

On Wednesday a free picnic lunch will be served to all employes; on Friday, to celebrate Health Career Day, students from both high schools will tour the hospital, guided by Mrs. Carl Whitaker, in-service director.

"Also, we hope that residents of Fayette County will observe our downtown display at Soldan's, prepared by the Practical Nursing Students, under the direction of Mrs. Jean Coe and Mrs. Ruth Carwile," Kunz added.

Kunz stated that the goal of National Hospital Week is to focus attention on how the people who work in the nation's hospitals are meeting the changing and challenging health care needs of the American people.

Approval of Ohio lottery could hurt Michigan sales

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Ohioans approve a state lottery on the ballot in Tuesday's election, Michigan may experience a sharp cutback in its state lottery ticket sales.

Michigan officials believe that a large portion of the approximately 150,000 out-of-state tickets sold each week in the Michigan lottery are purchased by Ohioans.

Proponents of the lottery issue in Ohio predict that a lottery could generate up to $25 million in the state's general revenue fund. However, opponents of the lottery claim it would attract the interest of organized vice operators.

Establishing an Ohio lottery is one of the main issues on Tuesday's ballot and a bill to begin the lottery is awaiting approval in the General Assembly should it be approved.

Many Ohioans have won in the Michigan lottery—billed as one of the nation's richest—and it cannot be accurately predicted how many—if any— Ohioans will stop purchasing tickets in the border state games.

Michigan lottery officials said 3,067 Ohioans won $25 each and qualified for the April 26 millionaire's elimination drawing, and Ohioans bought 750,000 of the 50-cent tickets in the five weeks preceding that drawing.

Many of the Ohioans drive to Michigan to buy tickets, but more buy them from bootleg operators in Ohio who often up the price to as much as $1.

Under current Ohio law, selling or buying lottery tickets within the state carries a maximum penalty of $500 or six months in jail.

Toledo, Ohio, officials, however, said they know of no arrests made for reselling Michigan lottery tickets in Ohio.

"With voters having the opportunity to decide on a lottery in their own state," a spokesman for the Ohio attorney general's office said, "I don't think there's any pressing need to put the heat on."

Mowing operations start

The smell of fresh mown grass will be in the air this week as city, state and county road crews begin mowing projects.

Gene Fitzpatric, Fayette superintendent of the Ohio Department of Highways here, said six mowers will be in operation. The state crews will mow along guard rails on U.S. 62, Ohio 753, 729 and 734. The guard rails along those routes are to be painted by a contract crew.

State crews also will be taking down snow fence, repairing a section of Ohio 729 where a culvert was installed, picking up litter and working on berms throughout the county.

County workers, according to County Engineer Charles P. Wagner, will be mowing weeds, patching pavement, working on culverts, and ditching in Wayne Township and along the Anderson Road.

Bill Duncan, acting superintendent of the city service department, said his crews will be spraying for mosquitoes, mowing and cleaning catch basins and main sewer lines.

Criminality meeting held

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Psychiatrists, judges, lawyers and state officials have been conducting a series of seminars aimed at improving the handling of Ohio's criminal offenders who have mental disorders.

Eighty persons attended the second meeting this past weekend at Hueston Woods State Park and plan to hold another later this month at Burr Oak State Lodge.

Three more seminars are scheduled for the coming months. The conferences are being sponsored by the Ohio Division of Forensic Psychiatry.

A spokesman for the division said the representatives have been attempting to modernize the state's 34-year-old Ascherman Act.

He said the act allows the state to commit criminal offenders with mental problems to hospitals rather than prisons.

The spokesman said officials want better evaluations of criminal offenders to determine if they should be committed to hospitals or prisons.

OEA unification with NEA voted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Members of the Ohio Education Association have voted 23,244 to 21,355 for unification of the OEA with the National Education Association, OEA President Leonard Arcilesi announced Saturday.

He said 56 per cent of the membership cast ballots.

The vote means all members of the state organization must also become members of the NEA beginning September 1, 1974. Had the state group failed to unify with the NEA, Arcilesi said, the Ohio group would have faced disaffiliation.

The OEA leader called on "all teachers in Ohio, even if they disagreed with the majority, to support the democratic decision made by their colleagues across the state."

Nelson salvages win in series with Expos

MONTREAL (AP) — Cincinnati pitcher Roger Nelson worked the stiffness out of his ailing elbow Sunday, but the Montreal Expos felt the pain.

Nelson, acquired from Kansas City in a winter trade, went to the mound for the first time in 18 days and left with a 6-1 win. He lost a bid for his first National League shutout in the ninth inning.

It was the Reds' first win in the three-game series with the Expos.

"Now maybe we'll get going," said Nelson, now 2-1.

Nelson nursed a 1-0 lead for the first five innings after Dave Concepcion singled, stole second and third and scored on Johnny Bench's sacrifice fly in the first inning.

The Reds erupted for three runs in the sixth and solo home runs later by Bench and Concepcion padded the lead.

Montreal averted the shutout when Ron Woods doubled in the ninth, advanced on John Bocabell's single and scored on a fielder's choice.

The Reds missed a chance at a double play when Darrell Chaney lost the throw against a backdrop of fans. It would have ended the inning without scoring, but Nelson wasn't concerned.

The 28-year-old righthander was encouraged with his routegoing performance that could get him back into rotation.

"My arm started coming around in the fourth," he said. "I hope things will be alright the rest of the year."

Concepcion stole three bases during the game, giving him six for the season.

He ignited the Reds' three-run sixth inning by singling, stealing second and scoring on Bobby Tolan's single. Tony Perez doubled and Richie Scheinblum drove in two runs with a double.

Balor Moore took the loss.

The Reds face Philadelphia tonight. Ross Grismley, 4-1, is expected to face either Ken Brett or Wayne Twitchell.

Secretariat earns respect

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Secretariat, his image shining brighter than ever, now takes on the task of trying to win the Triple Crown and his opposition might not be too great—at least in numbers.

"He ran pretty good for a crippled horse," jockey Ron Turcotte said Sunday after Secretariat wiped out rumors that he had a knee problem with an overwhelming victory in the Kentucky Derby.

"You know something he might have run that in 1:56 if he was all right," Turcotte chided.

With his stature damaged by an upset loss in the Wood Memorial April 21 and rumors sweeping Churchill Downs Saturday that Secretariat had hurt himself and might even be scratched, Secretariat responded by beating Sham by 2½ lengths in a record time of 1:59 2-5 for the 1¼-mile Derby.

"There won't be many trying him in the Preakness," said trainer Lou Goldfine, adding that he was taking Shecky Greene, who finished sixth, and My Gallant, who finished ninth, back to Chicago.

"I'm going to weigh things over," said trainer Bill Resseguet, whose Our Native finished third, 10½ lengths back of the flying winner.

One of those expected to test Secretariat in the Preakness, the second Triple Crown race at Pimlico May 19, was Sham.

Two of Sham's teeth were loosened when he bumped his head in the starting gate and they were removed after the race. However, trainer Frank "Pancho" Martin said Sham ran a fine race and there were no excuses.

Martin also will send two other colts to Pimlico—Knightly Dawn, who won an allowance race on Derby program, and the lightly raced Beautiful Music.

Others being mentioned for the 1 3-16-mile Preakness were Aljamin; Stop the Music; Impecunious, who missed the Derby because of a heel injury, and Step Nicely, a stakes winner as a 2-year-old. None raced in the Derby.

Secretariat was scheduled to go to Baltimore today while Angle Light, his stablemate, was to be sent back to New York. Angle Light finished 10th in the Derby.

Cobb shatters old Panther track mark

Miami Trace's track team finished sixth in an eight-team field at the rugged Franklin Heights Invitational meet held Saturday.

Several fine performances were turned in by members of head coach Chuck Wallace's Panther track team and senior Gardner Cobb established a new school record.

Cobb shattered a long-standing record held by Ed Summers in the 440-yard dash as he turned in a 52.7 performance to win the event. A 53.1 clocking was set by Summers in 1967.

COLUMBUS WEST won the meet with 182½ points and 11 firsts, followed by Westland with 63 points and a pair of firsts. Columbus Mohawk was third, Hilliard fourth, followed by Miami Trace, Bishop Ready and Columbus Central.

Senior Dan Coe was second in the pole vault with a leap of 10 feet, six inches and Miami Trace's mile relay team, despite dropping the baton, finished third in 3:47.6.

Dave Stenhauser was fifth in the high jump, Ron Warnock fifth in shot put and fourth in the discus, Ron Bays sixth in the mile run, the 880-yard relay team was sixth and Ernie Perry was fifth in the two mile.

Cobb set a personal high with 11½ points. He also placed sixth in the discus.

The Panthers will entertain Wilmington, Greenfield McClain and Clinton Massie Tuesday.

MT booster call

The regular meeting of the Miami Trace Boosters Club will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the high school.

Max Schlichter, president of the backing organization, said all members are urged to attend the meeting.

Joe Saldana wins

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — Joe Saldana of Lincoln, Neb., has jumped to seventh in the U.S. Auto Club Sprint Car Division point standings with a victory in the third-annual Tony Hulman Classic here.

Saldana led the 40-lap race on the half-mile dirt track from beginning to end Saturday, holding off a late charge by Rollie Beale of Toledo, Ohio.

Colonial Stair team captures third place

Colonial Stair's slo-pitch softball team captured third place honors in the American Legion Post 62 benefit tournament held over the weekend at Chillicothe.

The Colonial Stair team, managed by Gene Fout, won five of seven games in the tourney and cracked a total of 26 home runs. Colonial Stair played five of those games on Sunday.

Keith Guthrie belted six home runs and John Grooms had five roundtrippers. Lonnie Ayers had a .700 batting average and Tom Quigley and Steve Sword hit .633 and .590, respectively.

Shepards, Terrells top Husband-Wife pin meet

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Shepard emerged with honors in the scratch division of the annual Husband-Wife bowling tournament which was held Sunday afternoon at Bowland Lanes.

Shepard rolled a fine 635 actual score and his wife, Pat, turned in a 436 for a 1071 series to top the field in the annual tourney which attracted a total of 12 couples.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Terrell were the winners in the tourney's handicap division with a 1206 total. The Terrells had a 1066 actual series with a 140-pin handicap.

In the scratch division, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yoakum finished second with a 1030 score and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Greene placed second in the handicap section. The Greenes had a 1005 actual score with a 150-pin handicap for a 1155-pin total.

Tony Capuana, proprietor at Bowland Lanes, said bowlers and teams are still needed for the three-man men's Tuesday Night summer league at Bowland. Interested bowlers or teams are urged to contact Bowland Lanes for further details.

The summer leagues will open next week, Capuana said.

Knicks top L.A. Lakers

NEW YORK (AP) — Willis Reed and Earl Monroe are happy—and Jerry West is hurting.

With Reed playing "my most important game," Monroe proving he's king of the playgrounds and West not having a healthy leg to stand on in the fourth quarter, the New York Knicks beat Los Angeles 87-83 Sunday afternoon to take a 2-1 lead over the Lakers in their National Basketball Association championship series.

"I don't know if it was my best game since the injury back in 1970, but it certainly was my most important one," said Reed, New York's solid man in the middle who scored 22 points and grabbed 10 rebounds against Los Angeles' Wilt Chamberlain.

"Sure I'm happy," he said, smiling. "This was a good one to win, because it keeps us in the driver's seat. Now there are just two games to go."

The Madison Square Garden crowd of 19,694—including the touring Russian basketball squad—and a national television audience saw a rather sloppy game in which the Knicks were outscored 15-2 in seven minutes of the second period, came back to trail just 47-44 at the half, moved in front with seven unanswered points in the third period and stayed one stride ahead of the defending champion Lakers throughout the fourth quarter.

"It was a strange game," said West, the Lakers' superstar who sat out the entire fourth quarter with pulled hamstring muscles in both his legs. "There was no pattern to it, no flow.

U.S. again defeats Soviet cagers, 83-75

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Ernie "D" turned the tide and won the hearts in an 83-75 victory by the U.S. national basketball team over the Russian national team.

Six-foot-one Ernie DiGregorio of Providence personally pulled the Americans together after a slow start Saturday night and led them to their third victory in four games with the Russians on their American tour.

Pearson wins wreck-filled Winston 500 auto contest

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — David Pearson, Joe Frasson and Ramo Stott were among the lucky ones in Sunday's Winston 500-mile stock car race that wound up as a $1 million junkyard.

Pearson, 38, kept his cool and won the race—his fifth straight on the Grand National circuit and his fourth at 500 miles this year. He also will bank $26,095 to go with the $61,735 he already had won.

Stott, a 37-year-old veteran from Keokuk, Iowa, wrecked his Mercury on the 10th lap around the 2.66-mile Alabama International Speedway, and watched horrified as 18 other cars barrelled into each other in the worst pile up in National Association of Stock Car Automobile Racing history.

"I already had unbuckled my seat harness," Stott said later, "And had started to get out of the wrecked car. But then I saw it coming—cars spinning all over the place, ramming into each other, spewing tires, wheels, engines and parts everywhere. I decided to stay in the car."

Stott, who finished second in a race at Talladega last August and who currently leads the stock car standings in the rival United States Auto Club, said the engine cracked in his car. The other drivers said it was oil from Stott's car that triggered the chain-reaction crash that followed.

Buddy Baker, Cale Yarborough, Bobby Allison and Frasson, who were running in first through fourth places, rammed into the mess at more than 190 miles an hour— directly in front of many of the estimated 77,000 persons who watched.

Before it was over, 15 cars had been eliminated, some so bent and broken that they were unrecognizable.

Frasson, Wendell Scott, Earl Brooks and Slick Gardner were treated for injuries.

World shot put record shattered

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Al Feuerbach, the new shot put world record holder, recognized the possibility of complacency after his toss of 71 feet, 7 inches at the San Jose Invitational track meet.

"I could probably become satisfied. But that would be against the philosophy I've had for the last 11 years," the 25-year-old U. S. Olympian said after his Saturday feat.

WCH's Storm sets two records in rhubarb-filled track scrap

Washington C. H. speedster Brian Storm shattered two records Saturday in the annual Hillsboro Invitational track meet which was filled with controversy.

Storm, a senior member of head coach John Armstrong's Washington C. H. team, erased the 100 and 220-yard dash records he established in the same meet last spring.

He turned in a fine 10.0 clocking in the 100-yard dash and a 23.0 in 220 to guide the Blue Lion spikers to a third place finish in the nine-team field.

It's certain that Washington C. H. finished third, but the first place team is undecided today because of a rhubarb-filled disqualification in the final event of the meet.

ACTUALLY, Ironton had 68 points which topped Hillsboro by a mere point and a half, but Ironton's total did not count a disqualification called by Hillsboro's coach, who acted as an official on the last leg of the mile relay.

Hillsboro's coach called a foul on Ironton and following a heated argument, the Ironton mentor rushed to the press box, grabbed the first place trophy and departed, leaving all the other individual medals the team had won.

Little Miami was fourth with 33½ points followed by Waverly (25) and Cincinnati Country Day (12). Greenfield, Georgetown and Mason did not score.

Junior Chuck Wilson leaped 21 feet in the long jump, but fouled and was forced to settle for a 20 feet, 7½-inch jump which was good enough for first place. Bob Osborne won the 440-yard dash and Gene Lyon was second in the 880. Washington C. H.'s 880-yard and mile relay teams turned in third place performances and junior Dan McDaniels was fifth in the long jump.

Washington C. H., which increased its season record to 31-11-1, is scheduled to entertain Chillicothe Tuesday before embarking on the Class AA sectional preliminaries Thursday at Whitehall.

Muskie urges whole truth on Watergate

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972, says political parties "should not be held to blame for the people who represent them."

Sen. Muskie made the statement in connection with the Watergate case. He said the most serious consequence of the Watergate affair is that the public's confidence has been shaken in the political process.

The Maine senator was here to speak at a State of Israel Bonds dinner.

He said he would have to take President Nixon's word on the Watergate case but he added the President "did not tell us anything we did not know" in his recent television address to the nation on Watergate.

"I think the whole truth must come out," said Muskie in an interview. "I think it all must be told and there must be a thorough cleansing of the matter."

Speaking of reports of political sabotage of his own primary campaign, Muskie said "there is ample evidence now that things that looked like sabotage were sabotage."

About 50 persons picketed the downtown hotel where Muskie spoke at the Israeli bond dinner. They were identified as members of The Coalition for The Support of The Palestinian People. There was no violence.

In his banquet speech Muskie said: "We must... maintain our pledge to the military security of Israel. Arms sales and credits to finance them are essential to that pledge but, more broadly, we must gear our diplomatic efforts in the Middle East to the stopping of the arms race and negotiating a permanent peace."

Fear construction strike on Monday

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Some 300 bricklayers, masons and plasterers in Lake and Geauga counties plan to strike at midnight Monday unless agreement is reached on a new contract with the Mason Contract Association.

Robert C. McMasters, business representative for Local 16 of the union, said the two sides would meet Monday morning with federal mediator John E. Mesereau in an attempt to resolve their differences.

The union turned down a 39-cent hourly raise in the first year of a three-year pact, said McMasters, because it was tied to proposals for new starting times and reduction of overtime pay from double time to time and one-half.

Bricklayers earn $10.31 an hour, including fringe benefits.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Robbed At Work

Hired as floor manager in a department store, Phyllis asked where she should leave her new fur coat during working hours. Since there were no more lockers available, she was told to leave the coat in a corridor closet.

A few days later, the coat was stolen from the closet. The store denied any responsibility for the loss, but Phyllis — unconvinced — took the matter to court.

At the hearing, the company said it had never guaranteed its employes against theft. But it seems the closet had neither lock nor guard. Finding a lack of reasonable care, the court said the company would have to make good the loss.

IT IS common for employes to deposit clothing and other personal belongings in company facilities while at work.

As a rule, the company must provide reasonable safekeeping if — as in Phyllis' case — the employe has been instructed to put the article in a particular place. This creates a "bailment" relationship, with a legal duty imposed on the company as the "bailee."

But the duty is not unlimited. In another case, also involving a stolen coat, the clothes closet was within a locked enclosure to which only employees had access. A court rules that the company had made a reasonable effort to prevent theft, hence could not be held liable.

Of course, some responsibility rests upon the employee, as well. A toolmaker who owned his own tools often left them overnight on his work bench. Right above the bench was a broken skylight. One night a thief climbed in through the skylight and decamped with the tools.

Could the company be blamed for the loss because of the broken skylight? A court said no, because the toolmaker himself was aware of the danger. By leaving his tools in such an accessible place, said the judge, he had "assumed the risk" of their being stolen.

Nixon medical records copied?

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A former personal physician of President Nixon's says Nixon's medical records were taken from a safe in his office and "obviously scrutinized" during the 1972 presidential campaign, the Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram reports.

In a copyright story in today's editions, the newspaper quotes Dr. John Lungren as saying his office was burglarized twice last September and on one occasion the Nixon records were taken from a safe and scattered on the office floor.

Lungren, a heart specialist and internist, said he last examined Nixon in 1969 and is now a medical consultant to the President.

During hibernation, the black bear's temperature and heartbeat remain substantially normal.

Plush plane draws Proxmire ire

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — An Air Force spokesman at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base said Gen. Jack Catton may have a comment today on reports that he ordered the $430,000 remodeling of a C135 into a luxury aircraft.

Catton is in command of the Air Force logistics command headquartered at Wright-Patterson. The report of his remodeling the aircraft was released in Washington Sunday by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

Col. Kirby Bernich, a logistics command information officer, Sunday night said, "we might have a comment on it" today "when we have a chance to look at the General Accounting Office figures."

Bernich said "I'm sure the general would not be in any mood to comment now—he is quite busy."

Catton was having dinner with Secretary of the Air Force Robert C. Samans Sunday night. Bernich said the meeting had nothing to do with the remodeling of the plane but was a "standard command briefing."

Proxmire said he has confirmed that the plane has been given a new exterior skin and a paint job and that interior redesign plans include a refrigerator, self-cleaning range, large tables, soundproofing, reupholstering of chairs and blue carpeting.

The senator said he is asking the General Accounting Office to check on "information made available to me" that other modifications include new engines, three bathrooms, a new kitchen, a trash compactor, stereo system, 14-foot freezer and a bar.

"In a time of tight budgets," Proxmire said in a statement, "it is outrageous that hundreds of thousands of dollars should be spent on an Air Force luxury liner for the brass. It's time that the high flyers be brought back to earth."

By the time the remodeling is complete sometime this month there will have been 27,000 man-hours of labor spent, according to Proxmire. The work began in January at Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma.

The Irish Republic was formally established on Jan. 21, 1919. On that date the First Assembly of Dail Eireann ratified the proclamation of the Irish Republic made on Easter Monday 1916 by the Republican Army acting on behalf of the Irish people and claimed international recognition for the independence of Ireland.

Early learning gets boost from teacher

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Pleasant Rowland is like her name — smiling, attractive and charming. But her intensely blue eyes gleam most when she discusses a favorite topic — children and learning.

For five years, Pleasant taught kindergarten. The more places she taught, the more she felt she was juggling too many different things to be an effective teacher.

So she developed a multisensory reading program called "Beginning to Read, Write and Listen," as an answer to her frustration over the task of organizing a kindergarten curriculum.

"New television programs like "Sesame Street" help children prepare for school. They're ready to learn more based on knowledge they've acquired from television. They have lots of curiosity and an immense desire to learn to read," Pleasant said.

THE PROGRAM she developed is strong on phonic reading, tying in auditory skills and art.

"They're all things any good teacher could do, given lots of time and good intentions. I thought, too, that the alphabet was lost in curriculum limbo. Kindergarten teachers assumed it would be taught in first grade and first grade teachers were certain children learned it in kindergarten. So lots of kids were trying to learn to read without any foundation."

To give children an alphabet awareness, Pleasant devised 24 alphabet books that have letters you can feel, glittery to the touch; bright colored workbooks with pop-outs and cut-outs, a paper slate that is color-cued to help children form and position letters. There is also a cassette tape with sound effects for each letter, music selections and phonic dictations.

"Each book builds on the one before. Each reviews skills taught in preceding books. The child can assign one sound to each letter, and learns to blend the sounds together to form words," she added.

"Writing in those simple terms, not using a sound or letter that hadn't been learned already, was the most difficult part.

"But the results are immediate. The child is learning to read words, sentences and stories. There are handwriting exercises, coloring, pasting and folding. The child learns by doing," the young teacher said.

ALONG with working to make colors for the books bright and true, Pleasant developed a "sniffie," a picture to be scratched and sniffed. It smells of strawberries, pickles or oranges.

She says the best part of the workbook is that it can be taken home to share with parents, giving them an opportunity to help children learn.

"I've tried to do what any teacher would if she was able to do what she wanted. Teachers are good, but they don't have enough time," Pleasant said.

A Chicago native, Pleasant attended Wells College and taught in four states. She worked as a television reporter in San Francisco, which, she says, gave her an added appreciation of visual communication.

"I learned, too, that it shouldn't be so horrible if a child makes a mistake. Things can be erased, done over. It makes life easier if everything doesn't have to be perfect," she said.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Ecchymoses Are Not Dangerous

The slightest bruise to my legs or arms shows up with black and blue marks that I am constantly having to explain.

Besides being embarrassed, I wonder if there is something wrong with my blood vessels.

I am 20 years old, and otherwise in perfect health.

Miss A.A.Y., Del.

Dear Miss Y.:

The black-and-blue marks are known as "ecchymoses." They are the result of a break in a tiny blood vessel.

The blood oozes out into the tissue beneath the skin and is particularly apparent in fair-haired people with light, translucent skin.

Some people have blood vessels that are especially vulnerable. The walls of the blood vessels break easily and the slightest pressure or injury is responsible.

For others, the tendency to bleed as you do may accompany the prolonged use of drugs that contain aspirin. Other drugs, too, may be responsible for a bleeding tendency.

Sometimes there is a deficiency of one of the blood components, the "platelets," which play an important role in the clotting mechanism. A complete blood study can show the possible presence of this or other bleeding tendencies, and suggest specific treatment.

In most instances, conditions such as your have no great medical significance and should not cause great concern.

Have you ever heard the term "intestinal stroke" used to describe a sudden attack of bowel obstruction?

My brother, who was in perfect health, developed this condition and needed an emergency operation.

Mrs. S. V., Colo.

Dear Mrs. V.:

Very recently, the term "intestinal stroke" came to my attention for the very first time in an excellent article in a physicians' journal.

Dr. R. C. Harrison, of the University of British Columbia, described this condition.

Just as blood vessels that flow to the brain or to the heart may be closed by arteriosclerosis, so can blood vessels that go to different parts of the intestines.

Blood vessels can be blocked or broken, and therefore interfere with the normal flow of oxygen-containing blood.

Dr. Harrison uses the term "intestinal stroke." This has great validity and should have more and more importance in the diagnosis of difficult intestinal problems.

Is leprosy a veneral disease?

R. J., Ky.

Dear R.:

Leprosy is not a venereal disease. It is in no way related to gonorrhea or syphilis.

Leprosy, now often called "Hansen's Disease," is an infectious disease caused by a special bacillus, or germ, closely related to the one that causes tuberculosis.

There are a number of different forms of leprosy. The condition exists mostly in tropical and sub-tropical areas. It is comparatively rare in the United States or in northern climates.

Vaccination against leprosy is being studied. A number of drugs are being used with promising results for those people who are planning to live in tropical climates. Intensive treatment with various drugs is now effective in many cases of leprosy.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	3 ♦	Pass	4 ♠

Opening lead - eight of clubs.

Some contracts fail solely because the wrong hand becomes declarer, but at least some of them can be saved by anticipating this possibility and dealing effectively with it.

Consider this deal from the Great Britain-U.S. match in 1962. When the Americans were North-South, the bidding went as shown.

It does seem that North should have been more aggressive after South first jump-shifted in spades and then leaped again in spades. Presumably South was announcing an independent suit as well as interest in a slam, and on that basis North surely had the values for at least one more bid. His was not a minimum opening bid.

However, had North carried on to six spades, South would have gone down one due to the unfortunate lie of the clubs.

The odds against East's having the A-Q were about 3 to 1, and if South had wound up in six spades down one, he would have had just cause for complaint. Actually, the American South made five spades and scored 650 points.

When Priday and Truscott were North-South for Britain, the bidding went:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♦	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	4 NT	Pass	5 ♦
Pass	6 NT

This contract could not be stopped when Priday, after inquiring for aces with Blackwood, contracted for six notrump. Played from the North seat, the slam was unbeatable, and when East chose a spade as his opening lead, Priday made all 13 tricks for a score of 1,470 points.

The British team thus gained 820 points on the deal.

President signs bill for elderly

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon has signed a $551.6 million aid bill for older Americans.

The bill, which will fund programs for the period ending June 30, 1975, replaces a $2 billion measure vetoed by the President last year.

Nixon said the new legislation avoids "cruel over-promises implied by the levels in the earlier bill" while capitalizing on "the strengths of existing programs."

The bill authorizes transportation, nutrition and job programs for the elderly, establishes centers for senior citizens, and funds research into the problems of aging.

No candidates, only issues on Fayette ballots Tuesday

Polling places for Tuesday's election will be open from 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., according to Mrs. Mary Jane Jennings, Fayette County director of elections.

Since there are no candidates on the ballot in Fayette County, liquor permit holders will operate as usual, but state liquor stores will be closed all day, according to Richard Guggenheim, Ohio Liquor director.

The only items to be voted on in Fayette County are the seven state issues. They are:

ISSUE ONE

An amendment to the Ohio Constitution to permit the state to conduct lotteries. The proceeds are to become part of the state's general revenue. Operation of the lottery would be decided by a State Lottery Planning Commission under terms of a bill now pending in the Ohio House of Representatives.

ISSUE TWO

An amendment to the Ohio Constitution to allow public agencies to acquire private land for the purpose of constructing or maintaining sanitary sewers and water lines before payment is made for the land. The owner of the land would retain the right to ask the court to determine the amount of payment. Public agencies would be permitted to begin their projects before the case is settled in court.

ISSUE THREE

This question proposes the repeal of a section of the Constitution which disqualifies persons convicted of embezzling from holding public office.

ISSUE FOUR

This question is a proposed repeal of a section of the Constitution which provides for a Supreme Court Commission. The section became a part of the Constitution in 1883 to deal with a backlog of Supreme Court cases.

ISSUE FIVE

This proposed new judicial article for the constitution would allow the state legislature to adopt by concurrent resolution, amendments to the rules governing practice and procedure in all courts of the state, which rules have been established by the Supreme Court.

ISSUE FIVE-A

This proposed constitutional amendment would bring municipal and county judges under the same constitutional provision now governing compensation for judges of appeals and common pleas courts. It provides that judges of all courts established by law receive compensation as may be provided by law and that such compensation shall not be diminished during term.

ISSUE SIX

This proposed constitutional amendment is relative to the administration, organization and procedures of the General Assembly. It would require annual meetings of the legislature, and would permit the presiding officers of the two houses, acting jointly, to call special sessions. It would also allow each house to choose its officers, except as otherwise provided in the constitution, and adopt rules of procedure, as well as make changes in procedure for filling vacancies.

A light vote is expected here.

Fayette Boys' Choir returns from Virginia

The 19 members of the Fayette County Boys Choir are back home and in school today with memories of their educational trip to Charlottesville, Va., over the weekend never to be forgotten.

The choir left here at 7 a.m. Friday in a chartered bus, and 10 hours later was in historic Charlottesville. The group stayed in the Monticello Hotel and from there made trips to Monticello, Thomas Jefferson's home, the University of Virginia and many other points of historical interest.

The boys agreed that one of the educational highlights was their visit to the university's observatory, where they heard a lecture and saw films of some of the more important scientific developments of the outer space program.

Choir members were special guests of the First Presbyterian Church for the Sunday morning worship service and sang several sacred songs.

Since the customary birthday party the 17th for the choir — was held in the hotel dining room following the appearance at the church, the trip back home did not get started until after 3 p.m. Sunday and the bus did not arrive here until after midnight Monday.

The choir was accompanied by Mrs. Robert E. Willis, its founder and director; Garell Leasure, business manager, and Mrs. Joe Overly, Mrs. Ron Wagner and Mrs. Richard Wintringham, chaperones.

The choir will give its last concert of the season at the annual Parents Night at 8 p.m. Thursday in the First Presbyterian Church.

Soviet grain production still won't cover all needs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department today said the Soviet Union, which bought more than $1 billion worth of U.S. grain last year, appears to be headed for larger crop production on its own in 1973.

But the Soviets, officials added, are expected to continue buying relatively large amounts of grain from foreign suppliers.

Last year, when drought and other severe weather conditions reduced its harvest, the Soviet Union turned to the United States for more than 19 million tons of grain and soybeans, including some 440 million bushels (about 12 million tons) of wheat.

"Although the USSR at present is still expected to need sizable purchases of grain from the world market for ... 1973-74, there appears in recent weeks to have been an improvement in Soviet grain prospects for 1973," the Foreign Agricultural Service said.

Last month the agency said it appeared the Soviets might be in the market this year for as much as 14 million tons of grain from all foreign sources, about half the amount Moscow purchased on the world market in 1972.

Today's report in the weekly magazine "Foreign Agriculture" repeated the earlier analysis despite the more recent upturn in Russian crop prospects.

"It is still early to be making firm forecasts of the 1973 crop, especially since the spring grain crop is not yet all planted," the report said.

The Soviet government, the report said, has set a grain production goal this year of 197.4 million tons, which officials here termed "ambitious" since that would be 18 per cent more than the 1972 Soviet harvest of 168 million tons and six per cent above the record of 186.8 million set in 1970.

New typhoid strain noted

CHICAGO (AP) — A strain of typhoid fever that is resistant to commonly used drugs is being brought to the United States by travelers returning from Mexico, say three California researchers.

The type of typhoid currently is epidemic in northern and central Mexico, the researchers reported in the May 7 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

2 measures before Council

Two pieces of legislation, one proposing an increase in the salary of new members of City Council, and another confirming an appointment to the city Zoning Board of Appeals, are on the agenda for the Wednesday night meeting of City Council.

The session will begin at 7 o'clock in the city offices.

The pay increase proposal would boost the salary of the four Council members to be elected in November to $100 per month. Council members are now paid $360 per year. The proposal would also increase the Council chairman's pay from $720 a year to $1,800.

The Zoning Board appointment will be to fill the vacancy left by Glenn Tatman who is now the city building inspector.

Plane crash injures 4

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — Four Troy residents escaped serious injury Sunday when their Beech Bonanza plane went 150 feet past a breakwall on Rattlesnake Island and plunged into Lake Erie.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said the plane was attempting a takeoff when its landing gear struck the breakwall at the end of the island. The patrol said the plane went 150 feet past the wall and sank into 15 feet of water. The four were rescued by the U.S. Coast Guard.

They were identified as Joel Leavelle, 55, and his wife, Mary, 46, and their friends, Russell Stubbs, 37, and his wife, Shirley, 36.

The patrol said Leavelle was the pilot. His wife, the only person hospitalized, was in good condition this morning, at a local hospital.

Rattlesnake Island is near Put-In-Bay.
